France Cheers Leader's Reply To Mussolini

Even Daladier's Enem- ies Support His Position ITALY ANGERED

Duce Says Nation Won't Stay 'Prisoner in Mediterranean'

Paris—(AP)—The French chamber of deputies tonight criticized Germany for "unjust and violence" in the Nazi absorption of Bohemia and Moravia, the Czech portions of vanished Czechoslovakia.

Paris—(AP)—Premier Daladier's strong declaration that France would cede "not a foot of our land nor one of our rights" to Italy seemed today to have won both popular and political acclaim.

Even the premier's bitter political enemies endorsed his stand—that France would yield no territory, that she would negotiate colonial and other differences with Italy if Italy took the initial step, and that France was strong enough to defend herself.

The socialist Leon Blum, who frequently has opposed the more conservative radical-socialist, Daladier, declared that "we approve of this language." (Blum spoke for his party.)

The general comment was "now it is up to the axis" of Italy and Germany. Daladier, in his address which was broadcast last night, struck also at Germany, whose break-up of Czechoslovakia two weeks ago, he said, was a "heavy blow" to efforts for peace.

At Grenoble and several other cities near the Italian frontier, hundreds of Italian expatriates who profess anti-fascism paraded through the streets crying "Vive Daladier. Down with the Duce."

Roosevelt Lauds Progress Made by Negro Graduates

Urges Need for Cooper- ation Between States And Peoples

Tuskegee, Ala.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told the students and faculty today of the famous Negro school—Tuskegee institute—he was proud of what its graduates were doing for "human service" and stressed a need for cooperation between states and peoples of this world.

Speaking from his car in front of Carnegie music hall, the president said that, because of changing conditions, "we have got to work together."

"Alabama or Georgia cannot do it alone. More and more we have got to plan for the future and plan to work with the other fellow. That is one of the things you've got here—cooperation."

The president began his motor trip to Tuskegee, Auburn and Opelika at 10:20 a. m. C.S.T., from the little town of Chehaw, Ala., where

March Income Tax Collections Pass Budget Estimates

Washington—(AP)—March income tax collections have run over $500,000,000, exceeding by more than $75,000,000 the sum figured on by President Roosevelt in his budget estimates.

Today's treasury statement disclosed that on March 28, three days before the month's end, $501,068,010 had been checked into the government's till.

Although above budget estimates, the collections lagged behind March, 1938, returns when $723,000,000 was received in income taxes.

The deficit for the fiscal year which began last July 1 amounts to $2,321,905,448.

Borrowing to pay for the deficit boosted the public debt to a new high of $39,972,052,542.

Heil Approves Catlin Labor Disputes Bill

Says It Does Not Deprive Worker of Any Fun- damental Right

ISSUES STATEMENT

Thinks Law Will End Practices Which Retard Business Activity

Madison—(AP)—Governor Heil signed into law today the Catlin bill forbidding secondary picketing by labor organizations as a means of promoting their unions.

He declared in a statement that the measure will not deprive labor of any fundamental rights, but will put an end to practices responsible in part for retarding business activity.

The governor acted within a few hours after the bill reached his desk from the senate, which concurred in it only yesterday. It was introduced in the assembly Feb. 2 by Mark Catlin (R) Appleton, and was passed by the house March 3.

Supported by Republican-Democratic coalition forces, it weathered a stormy course of opposition from the progressive bloc.

Heil's Statement
Governor Heil's statement said: "I have this day approved bill No. 155A, because I believe its provisions will put a stop to labor practices which have in a large measure retarded business activity and expansion, and has deprived both employers and employees of fundamental human rights."

"There cannot be a sound and substantial economic recovery so long as employers and employees, who are working together harmoniously, are interfered with by outside influences."

This bill does not change the present law, which is as follows: The individual workman shall have full freedom of association, self-organization, and the designation of representatives of his own choosing to negotiate terms and conditions of his employment.

"This is sound law, and has my complete approval."

Rights Not Menaced
"The bill I have today approved does not take from labor a single fundamental right. All it does is to prohibit one labor organization from interfering with employees in another labor organization when such employees are getting along harmoniously with their employer."

"In this respect the law becomes an instrument for the good of the state."

War Prisoners To be Laborers

Franco Orders Rapid Re- construction Efforts In Spain

Burgos, Spain—(AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco today ordered the speeding up of national reconstruction in which he was expected to use a large part of his 600,000 prisoners of war for labor.

Madrid—(AP)—Spanish nationalists, with all 52 provinces of Spain under their guns today, faced a long struggle to reconstruct the country torn by 32 months of savage civil war.

Generalissimo Franco's military police rounded up thousands of republicans for classification and passage as a prelude to the great social task.

The war-wounded populace continued peace demonstrations in the streets of Madrid, fallen republican capital, while waiting for food from the unending stream of supply trucks that followed Franco's legions into the city Tuesday.

NOMINATED

Fred H. Brown (above), former New Hampshire senator, was nominated today by President Roosevelt to be comptroller general of the United States. The post was vacated in 1936 by John R. McCarl.

Former Senator New Comptroller General of U. S.

Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire Nominat- ed by Roosevelt

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt today nominated former Senator Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire to fill the long-vacant post of comptroller general of the United States. Brown's term will be 15 years.

Brown, who was New Hampshire's governor from 1923 to 1925, was defeated last November after a single term in the senate.

In the comptroller generalship Brown succeeds to the post vacated in 1936 by John R. McCarl. Since then Richard N. Elliott has been acting comptroller general.

Brown, a native of Ossipee, N. H., is a graduate of Dartmouth university and of Boston university law school. He was federal district attorney at Concord 1914-22, in the years first preceding his term as governor. He will be 60 next month.

Brown was known in the senate as a consistent supporter of his Democratic party chief—the president.

Shawano Meat Market Operator Must Serve Term in U. S. Prison

Milwaukee—(AP)—Vernel Schoenick, 32, Shawano meat market operator whose plea for leniency won him probation last June, was ordered sent to a federal penitentiary today by Judge Patrick T. Stone, on a charge of buying cattle stolen from the Menominee Indian reservation near Shawano.

In June, Judge Stone fined Schoenick $300 and sentenced him to serve two years, but suspended sentence when Schoenick declared he did not know the cattle had been stolen and was afraid to dislodge the fact when he learned it, because of a previous prison record.

Several days ago Schoenick was arrested for violating probation when E. J. Koelzer, assistant United States district attorney, announced the Shawano man had been drinking, passed a worthless check and beat his wife.

"You talked yourself out of the sentence in the first place, but you can't do it again," Judge Stone told Schoenick today when he denied violating his probation.

Judge Stone also revoked the probation of Edmund Mahkmatas, 26, Indian of the Menominee reservation, who now must serve 18 months for stealing cigarettes.

California Clipper Arrives at Honolulu

San Francisco—(AP)—The 74-passenger California Clipper arrived at Honolulu at 8:24 a. m. (P.S.T.) today, completing the first leg of its San Francisco-Hong Kong flight with the latest passenger load ever to fly the Pacific.

The clipper, with 35 persons aboard, made the 2,400 mile flight to Honolulu in 13 hours and four minutes. Pan American Airways announced.

Lisbon—(AP)—The 42-ton Yankee Clipper brought here at 4:12 p. m. (10:12 a. m. C.S.T.) today, completing the second leg of her initial trans-Pacific journey.

The big Pan-American Airways flying boat covered the 1,318 miles from Horta, the Azores, in 6 hours, 58 minutes.

Absentee Ballot Bill Approved by Governor

Madison—(AP)—Governor Heil today signed a bill allowing persons of Jewish faith to vote by absentee ballot April 4, the first day of their feast of Passover. The bill was rushed through both houses of the legislature yesterday.

The governor also signed a bill granting Calumet county certain submerged lands in Lake Winnebago and adjoining the Calumet county park in the town of Stockbridge for harbor purposes. It was introduced by Assemblyman Carl J. Peik (D), Chilton.

Says Security Taxation Must Be Increased

Altmeyer Declares Post- ponement Would Mean Boosts Later

MAPS OUT VIEWS

General Taxpayer May Have to Bear Large Part of Costs

Washington—(AP)—Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer of the social security board advised congress today that if scheduled increases in old age pension taxes were postponed the levies would have to be raised sharply in later years or the general taxpayer would have to bear a substantial part of pension costs.

The social security official, who has approved Secretary Morgenthau's recent recommendation that increases in pay roll taxes for pensions be deferred until 1943, testified before the house ways and means committee. That group is considering proposed liberalization and other changes in the social security system, including the Morgenthau recommendation.

Altmeyer told the committee he thought an eventual contribution to the old age pension system from general revenues was desirable.

If scheduled increases in the present tax of 1 per cent each on employers' pay rolls and employees' wages are postponed, he testified, the cost of benefits will reach and cross the level of tax collections in 1942.

Gives Estimates

It would be absolutely necessary to have some sort of stepup in the tax in 1943, Altmeyer said, and some contribution from general revenues would have to be made unless the pay roll taxes eventually were to exceed 3 per cent each on employers and employees. The present rate is 1 per cent on each.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) drew a distinction between the general public's obligation to aid persons who were not destitute when they reached 65, and those who were. Altmeyer agreed with the distinction, but contended there was considerable justification for general tax contributions to the former group. If it were not for the contributory old age pension system, he said, some of these persons would be needy and have to be aided through state old age assistance systems.

Pay-Hour Changes Come Up Friday

House Committee to Con- sider Proposals to Ease 'Hardship Cases'

Washington—(AP)—Chairman Norton (D-N.J.) said the house labor committee decided today to begin consideration tomorrow of proposals of sweeping changes in the wage-hour law designed to relieve "hardship cases."

The committee probably can complete the job next week, Mrs. Norton told reporters.

Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour administrator, said, meanwhile, that the 8,000 complaints of violations of the law had resulted in only four criminal cases. Three of the defendants have pleaded guilty.

Andrews emphasized that changes in the wage-hour law which he requested yesterday represented the work of conferences between himself and members of congress. The proposals were introduced by Chairman Norton.

He included these changes:

Eliminating the 44-hour week requirement those workers making $200 or more a month.

Specify hours' exemptions for agricultural industries more particularly and base them on seasonality and perishability of the products processed.

Give Andrews' interpretations of the law weight in court so that an employer who abides by them may not be penalized later, if the order is overruled by the court.

Exempt telephone switchboard operators in small exchanges.

Jap Government Plans 'Important Statement'

Tokio—(AP)—The Japanese government has invited United States, French and British ambassadors to the foreign office tomorrow to receive an "important statement."

It was not known but some quarters reported that Foreign Minister Matsuoka would detail the status of negotiations with Italy and Germany toward strengthening the anti-communist accord.

Ariga was expected to assure the envoys that any charges would not affect the democracies and that Soviet Russia was the pivot of the entire situation.

American Cardinals Back From Election

New York—(AP)—Three American cardinals who participated in the election of Pope Pius XII returned today from Rome.

First to arrive was the 84-year-old William Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, aboard the Italian liner Venezia. He said he "never felt better in my life."

Chicago Cardinal Mundelein, of Chicago, and Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, of Quebec, were aboard the French liner Normandie which was to dock later in the day.

Economy Group Expects Backing For Relief Slash

Bloc Relies on Farm Sup- port in Cutting Roose- velt Request

Washington—(AP)—Amid angry Republican protests against "arrogant gag rule," the house began debate today on the proposal to give WPA an additional $100,000,000 to finance relief until June 30.

Washington—(AP)—House economy advocates relied heavily today on farm bloc help to back up an appropriations committee proposal that President Roosevelt's WPA request be cut to $100,000,000.

They faced a determined drive by the administration leadership and representatives of urban areas, however, to give the president the full $150,000,000.

The farm bloc was bitter over Tuesday's defeat of a $250,000,000 fund for parity payments.

Congressman Cannon of Missouri, ranking Democratic member of the appropriations committee, said an effort would be made to raise the committee figure because "a majority of the Democrats on the committee wanted the $150,000,000."

In event the house refuses to grant the larger sum, Cannon predicted the senate would approve both it and the parity payment money and that the house finally would agree.

Await Roosevelt Reaction
Legislators were speculating over the president's reaction to the cut, should it finally go through. He told callers yesterday the WPA would have to make money go as far as possible.

A 400,000 cut in the rolls already has been ordered for next week. WPA officials insisted it would be carried out unless additional funds were forthcoming, but in administration circles at the capitol there was belief the cut might be delayed and some part of the order may be rescinded.

The house appropriations committee contended the reduction of $50,000,000 in funds to operate the WPA until July 1 should make no difference in the rolls. It declared the WPA had $69,047,425 available from which to make up that loss.

The committee also called on the WPA to economize on such items as travel and subsistence expenses of $500,000 a month and a monthly outlay of $150,000 for communications.

Roosevelt Told Amie Cannot be Given Senate O.K.

Report President Will Confer With Nominee Regarding Withdrawal

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt has been informed by senate leaders, it was reported reliably yesterday, that there is no present hope of winning confirmation of his appointment of Thomas R. Amie to be a member of the interstate commerce commission.

As a consequence, the president was said to have agreed to consult with Amie about possible withdrawal of the nomination. Amie has rejected previous overtures of this nature, it was reported, on the ground that he preferred to face senate rejection rather than withdrawal.

Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) of the senate interstate commerce committee was understood to have told the president that there appeared to be no chance that the senate would confirm appointment of the Wisconsin Progressive, a member of the house until last January.

The president's nomination of Amie to succeed Balthasar H. Meyer, 72-year-old commissioner, has been pending before an interstate commerce subcommittee, headed by Senator Johnson (D-Colo.), for nearly two months.

Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky said he expected the subcommittee to report next week, adding that he knew of no developments in connection with the nomination.

Some senators said they expected the subcommittee's report to be unfavorable.

Three Persons Injured In Auto-Truck Crash

Baraboo—(AP)—Three LaCrosse persons were injured today, one critically, when their automobile collided with a truck eight miles north of here. They are:

Mrs. Paul Zeisler, fractured skull; Harry Dimler, fractured ribs; Mrs. Harry Dimler, fractured collar bone.

Physicians at Baraboo hospital reported Mrs. Zeisler was in critical condition. The party was en route to Madison where Mr. Dimler had a business appointment.

Confirm Nomination Of Mrs. Lila Burton

Madison—(AP)—Governor Heil's appointment of Mrs. Lila Burton, 24, to the state board of control was confirmed unanimously today by the senate.

Senator Kresky (P), Green Bay, who blocked action when Mrs. Burton's name first came up for confirmation several weeks ago, withdrew his objections.

He said he had investigated the granting of a parole in a Fond du Lac county case after Mrs. Burton assumed office and while he thought the action a mistake he had consulted Mrs. Burton and found her to be a "sympathetic, charming and capable woman."

Mrs. Burton, a vice chairman of the Republican State Central committee, succeeded Mrs. Katherine Sullivan, Kaukauna.

Czechs and Slovaks Planning Congress

Chicago—(AP)—Plans for an international congress of Czechs and Slovaks were projected today as an initial step toward restoration of the republic of Czechoslovakia.

Bohus Benes, nephew of Dr. Edvard Benes, former president of the republic, told a mass meeting of Slovaks last night the congress would be held in Chicago or New York within a month.

The primary purpose of the congress, he said, would be to unify the Czech and Slovak populations of the Americas behind the new independence movement.

The ultimate goal, he added, was "re-establishment of a free Czechoslovakia in a free Europe."

Legislature to Quit Friday Until April 10; Fair Trade Codes Will Expire Saturday

Madison—(AP)—The legislature will adjourn tomorrow until April 10 and fair trade practices codes under which service industries are now operating will expire Saturday without any assurance they will be re-enacted.

While the assembly was working on a much amended code law for barbers, cleaners, cosmeticians and shoe rebuilders, it received word the senate had concurred in its resolution for a recess next week.

Involved in a controversy over further amendments the house dropped the bill.

The power to fix minimum prices, which was the backbone of present codes, already had been removed from the proposed new law and the assembly today refused to reject another amendment denying the code authority any right to limit business hours. A reconsideration motion stalled further action.

The bill proposed to place new codes under the department of agriculture and markets, whose only power, as the measure now stands would be to prescribe wages and business standards. An amendment to place codes under the board of health was defeated.

Assemblyman Grobenschmidt (P) Milwaukee, introduced a new proposal to revise the code law as it was enacted in 1933.

Assemblyman Carlson (P) Bayfield, sponsored a bill to reenact the 60 per cent emergency tax on incomes and the 21 per cent privilege dividend tax levied for budget purposes during the last four years.

The judiciary committee proposed a bill allowing industrial companies orders to be appealed to circuit courts in the counties where disputes arise instead of Dane county circuit court.

Neutrality Law Re- vision Heads List Of Proposals

AT CONFERENCE

Changes in Labor Rela- tions Law Not Includ- ed in Program

Washington—(AP)—Listing 10 "desirable" objectives headed by neutrality law revision, Senate Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) outlined a legislative program today that he said would keep congress in session until late in June.

Conspicuous by their absence from Barkley's list were amendments proposed by business men and AFL to the labor relations act, as well as suggested consolidation of corporation taxes into one general levy.

Barkley, who conferred yesterday with President Roosevelt on the legislative program, enumerated three tax objectives—temporary "freezing" of social security pay roll taxes at present levels, continuance of so-called nuisance taxes, and approval of reciprocal state and federal salary levies.

Besides these tax objectives and neutrality, Barkley said congress should enact:

Other Proposals
Railroad relief legislation.
A cotton export subsidy plan as suggested by President Roosevelt.
An emergency appropriation for the WPA as well as relief funds for the next fiscal year.
Legislation to expand and continue housing activities.
The remaining portions of the national defense program.
The annual departmental appropriations bills.

Barkley said it was his "conservative estimate" that congress could wind up its work between June 15 and July 1.

The Democratic leader said he had opposed a member of the foreign relations committee, the committee's decision yesterday to hold public hearings, beginning next Wednesday, on a half dozen proposals to revise the neutrality act.

Would Act Quickly
"I think that whatever is done," Barkley said, "ought to be done with all possible speed to avoid not only uncertainty here, but to avoid uncertainty abroad as to what we intend to do."

Observing that proposed Wagner changes present controversial issues, Barkley said it was his opinion some of the differences over operation of the act might be worked out by administrative changes under the law as it stands.

He said he foresaw no fundamental changes in the crop control act, commenting it might be possible to solve the problem of low farm income by appropriations under the present law.

Reaffirming support of the president's request for an additional $150,000,000 emergency WPA appropriation, which a house committee cut to $100,000,000, Barkley said the question of changing the relief system should be considered independently of this item.

He said he expected action soon on proposals to expand the FHA mortgage insurance authorization from $3,000,000,000 to $6,000,000,000 and to enlarge the slum clearance loan and grant authorization from $80,000,000 to $1,600,000,000 under the United States Housing Authority.

Assembly Votes Increased Aids To Communities

Approves Boost of About $2,600,000 in State Road Funds

Madison—(7)—The assembly passed in an afternoon session yesterday a bill increasing state highway aids to towns, villages, cities and counties approximately $2,600,000.

It was passed 86 to 5 under suspension of rules and sent to the senate. A substitute amendment which would have increased county aids at the expense of the cities was rejected.

The appropriation increases will be taken from the state highway free fund which represents an excess from gasoline and license fee revenues over appropriations.

Under the bill the present town and village appropriations of $50 a mile would be boosted to $65 a mile; cities up to 10,000 population from $100 to $120; from 10,000 to 25,000 population from $200 to $250; from 25,000 to 50,000 population from $300 to $350; and over 50,000 population from $400 to $520.

Funds for Counties
In addition to $65 per mile, counties will receive additional funds based upon the number of registered cars and total mileage of county roads.

Caillin (R) Appleton, objected to the bill, saying it contained no provision against the use of highway funds for relief and other purposes.

Alfonsi (P) Pence, said northern counties were forced to use highway revenues for other governmental needs, but always spent well over the appropriations for road improvements.

The house concurred in senate bills authorizing county boards to make appropriations to citizens safety committees, county safety commissions and councils for highway safety and patrol; and allowing counties, by a two-thirds vote of the county boards, to pay expenses of county highway officials attending annual road schools sponsored by the state highway commission.

U.A.W. Workers Pushing Plans to Organize Ford Co.

Thomas Says Union Must Act or Lose Its Present Strength

Cleveland—(7)—Delegates to the CIO United Automobile Workers convention today advanced toward their announced No. 1 task of organizing Ford Motor company employees.

Nine rank and file representatives composing the organization committee deal with the formidable problem as others took up constitutional questions or sought solution of remaining factional difficulties.

Before the committee was an ultimatum from President R. J. Thomas: "If Ford stays unorganized, the union can't long keep its strength in the auto and parts plants now under contract."

The group discussed radio, hand-bill and public speaking barrages in planning campaign tactics. One proposal asked even that special movies be filmed to aid in enlisting workers. Another would require the U. A. W. executive board to hire dozens of special organizers, including training workers for each of the nationalities represented among Ford workmen; Negro organizers for Negro employees.

Considered a powerful weapon was a threat to denounce the huge motor firm as "unfair in labor" in a national drive. This had been advocated in Thomas' convention report which asserted workers are "eager to get out from under the low wages and penitentiary atmosphere of the Ford plants."

CIO Director John Brophy meanwhile presided over "peace" talks intended to effect an agreement on a state of affairs for union leadership acceptable to all factions.

Secretary-Treasurer George A. Ades and Vice President Richard T. Frankensteen were said to have withdrawn as candidates for president in favor of Thomas, believed the CIO's first choice.

working man, and not primarily for the self-appointed leaders or organizers.

"In my association with farmers, industries, workmen, small and large business men, I have gathered this thought from them that unless there is peace between labor, farmer and industry, we will never rehabilitate the citizenship of our state."

Changes Labor Code
The Catlin bill amends the state labor code of 1931 to re-define a labor dispute as one between an employer and a majority of his employees. It originally provided a dispute could exist through action of two or more employees, but the majority provision was written in through an amendment by Assemblyman Ludvigsen (R) Waukesha.

Main effect of the bill was to wipe out the 4 to 3 ruling of the state supreme court in the American Furniture case which held that unions had the right to peaceful picketing of plants in which they had no members among the employees.

Organized labor has used the decision as legal authority to persuade non-union plants to organize.

F. of L. issued statements here sharply criticizing the Catlin labor disputes bill, which the Wisconsin senate passed 20 to 12 yesterday and sent to the state supreme court in the American Furniture case which held that unions had the right to peaceful picketing of plants in which they had no members among the employees.

Organized labor has used the decision as legal authority to persuade non-union plants to organize.

RELIEF CLIENT WEARS BLANKET

Because he said he was given size 36 pants when he asked for size 42, Nick Theophanis went to court in Chicago wearing a blanket and bed-room slippers to protest against the relief administration. Judge Thomas Green found out that he was an alien and fined him $200 for disorderly conduct.

Suggest Special Session to Act on Heil Reorganization

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—That the Heil administration may follow the lead of its Progressive predecessor in summoning an extraordinary session of the state legislature after the completion of the present, regular session is a strong possibility, administration Republicans reported today.

The special session would be held to ratify the Heil administration's reorganization proposals, according to plans now under discussion among members of the Republican majority in the capitol.

The contemplated plan was laid before the Republican majority legislative caucus this week by Lieutenant Governor Walter Goodland, who is keeping an active interest in the progress of legislation and in the administration's problems.

Goodland counseled speed in dealing with the "research bureau" which the Heil forces want to create as an agency to delve into the state government structure and to make recommendations for economy through retrenchment and reorganization.

The research bureau bill was passed by the state senate this week after the Progressive minority had assailed it as a "snooper's department." It would be headed by a director, the choice of Governor Heil. The bill will be before the assembly soon, and will pass there too.

Governor Heil and the administration, it appears, are determined to fulfill their earlier pledges to cut state governmental expenditures. Governor Heil himself has told groups recently that he believes several million dollars can be shaved off the state departments' operating budgets by judicious reorganization and a "trimming" of payrolls of superfluous help.

At a public meeting last week he declared that there are 4,000 too many state employees. Apparently the governor wants the 13,000 state servants reduced to about 9,000. The state spends about a million dollars monthly in payrolls, so that a one third reduction might result in economies up to $3,500,000, it was pointed out.

Such savings, some administration supporters have pointed out, could be diverted to the public welfare department for pensions, a field in which the Republicans' budgetary estimates are obviously short.

According to the Lieutenant governor, the research bureau should be allowed about eight months to make a complete study of the state government. Then the legislature could be summoned back to Madison next January to act upon its recommendations.

Council Cubs to Rally Saturday

250 Youths Will Gather In Afternoon at College Gymnasium

Cubs from the valley council of boy scouts will gather for their annual indoor rally Saturday afternoon at Alexander gymnasium.

T. Ben Wadsworth, cubing commissioner, said today the program will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon but that the doors will be open an hour earlier so parents may inspect handcraft displays.

About 250 youths will attend the rally, participating in games and contests and presenting demonstrations and stunts. A swim in the college pool will climax the afternoon.

Scouts of various troops will judge the knot-tying competition.

There will be three cub packs from Appleton represented, four from Neenah-Menasha, and one each from Clintonville and Shawano.

Canadian Bull Brings Price Of $1,075 at Holstein Sale

Waukesha—(7)—A Canadian four-month-old bull brought top price of $1,075 as head of choice cattle went on the auction block in the twenty-fifth anniversary Holstein sale here yesterday.

The bull—Montvic Rag Apple—was consigned by the Mount Victoria farms of Hudson Heights, Ontario, was purchased by R. Roy McLaughlin of Oshawa, Ont.

Femco Sir Bessie Veeman, a yearling bull consigned by the Femco farms of Breckenridge, Minn., brought the next highest price. He was purchased for $810 by Leo P. Dwyer of Barrington, Ill.

Larrietta farms of Nashville, Wis., paid the top price of $425 for a two-year-old cow, Montvic Bonheur Delphine, owned by the Mount Victoria farms.

Other high figures brought by Canadian cattle included $600 paid

Sterilization Bill Faces Opposition At House Hearing

Marquette Educators and Catholic Priests Attack Measure

Madison—(7)—Marquette university educators and Catholic clergymen objected spiritedly at a hearing before the assembly public welfare committee yesterday to a sterilization bill which a sponsor said was "in keeping with the highest law of the land."

It was introduced by the committee at the request of the Wisconsin Race Conservation Committee, represented by Mrs. Dorothy D. Walton, of Madison.

Mrs. Lila Burton, Eagle, recent Heil appointee to the board of control, and University of Wisconsin professors also appeared in favor of the bill.

Mrs. Walton claimed a new law was necessary because the present one has resulted in a "ridiculous and confused situation in the state."

Under the bill a director or superintendent of a state institution would be allowed to recommend that a patient being released or paroled be sterilized if he believes the patient is feeble-minded, insane, or an epileptic.

Provides for Board
The recommendation would be studied by a five-man eugenics commission which could authorize sterilization.

Appeals could be made to Dane county circuit court, and to the supreme court if desired.

The bill allows the sterilization of mental unfortunates outside state institutions, and also of normal persons who desire it for health reasons, or parents who desire it in the fear they will beget subnormal offspring.

Persons having religious objections would not have to submit to operations if they are adequately segregated, the bill provides. All records would be closed to the general public.

Dr. Paul J. Mundie, Marquette university sociology professor, asserted the measure was a "turning back of the clock of civilization," claiming "nothing is known of genetics which can be applied successfully to a heterogeneous, large population."

The Rev. Father W. P. O'Connor, St. Francis seminary, St. Francis, Wis., who said he represented Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch, Milwaukee, said the Catholic church was "unanimous" in opposition to the measure.

Heinemann to Speak At Welfare Meeting

Judge Fred V. Heinemann has been invited to speak at a meeting sponsored by the American Legion and auxiliary in conjunction with the National Youth administration and the juvenile department of the state in Appleton on April 18.

The theme of the conference will be "Responsibility of the Community to Youth." Judge Heinemann will discuss the county needs in a welfare program.

Members of the troop committee are as follows: A. L. Gardner, chairman; Leigh Wolfe, charter committee; Paul Stevens, court of honor; Dr. Guy Carlson, program; Fred Tresize, reception; William Falatic and Phil Ottman, refreshments.

Cotton Problem Forces U. S. Retreat From Hull Program

Washington—Instead of moving toward realization of Secretary Hull's trade program, the Roosevelt administration is being driven by hard circumstances to retreat. That is the meaning of the new cotton subsidy program just announced at the White House.

The program of Secretary Hull continues to be the ideal objective of this administration as it is of statesmen in most countries, except those operating on a totalitarian basis. Through these years, Hull has been fighting for a program which embraces not alone the reciprocal trade agreements, but which has as its object the removal of trade barriers—subsidies, quotas, export bounties, extreme tariffs, dumping and such interference with the free flow of goods among nations.

But the fate of many ideals has of late been an unhappy one. France, in order to meet the difficulties with which Hitler and Mussolini confront her, has been compelled to place her democracy on ice for the time being, and is now operating under a dictatorship. Although conscription is repugnant to the British people in peacetime, it is being forced upon the country by circumstances.

Raymond Clapper Similarly we are now confronted with the necessity of dealing with an acute cotton situation in a way that does not fit our ideal program. After considering all alternatives the administration is in favor of subsidizing cotton for export. Also we would place a quota restriction on manufactured goods that could be imported from this cotton, so that the subsidized cotton would not bounce back in the form of goods to undercut domestic textile manufacturers.

The administration is driven to this departure from the Hull program—although it is not admitted officially to be a departure because of the urgent necessity of getting rid of cotton.

Cotton Exports Are Lowest in Half Century
Cotton exports are the lowest in 50 years. The government is holding as security for loans about 11,000,000 bales of cotton. That is nearly twice the annual domestic consumption. The loan price on this cotton, a little more than 8 cents a pound, is much higher than the free market price would be, in reality the government is propping up the price to keep southern cotton farmers from complete ruin.

The trouble is that the pegged price permits us to take a beating from other cotton-producing countries. Hitler says Germany must export or die. Our cotton farmers must export or starve.

Therefore the administration has to cut a hole through the Hull program to propose an export subsidy and import quota restrictions. This is bound to provide further discouragement to Secretary Hull. He has preached with fervor of an evangelist in the Tennessee hills against the evils of artificial trade barriers and he does not accept infringements of his doctrine easily. Hull has been none too happy of late and this situation is an additional disappointment.

Both Are Hostile To Dictatorship Policies
There is no difference between Roosevelt and Hull in their attitude toward totalitarian dictatorship. Both are hostile in their personal feelings toward Hitler and his actions. It may not be correct to say that there are any important differences between them over policy. But it is certain that Roosevelt and Hull have drifted somewhat apart in their relationship. Under Secretary Sumner Welles has been consulted increasingly by the White House in recent months, and his influence appears to be on the rise. This situation, which is in no sense at the point of a break or likely to reach such a point in the near future, is not made any easier for Hull, however, by this latest move in the direction of subsidizing exports and fixing import quotas, which to Hull symbolize the trade evils of the totalitarian regimes.

Roosevelt, Wilson School Students Exchange Programs

An exchange program was presented at Wilson and Roosevelt Junior High schools last week in reality the government is propping up the price to keep southern cotton farmers from complete ruin.

Betty Stevens played a violin solo accompanied by Presocia Rancy at Wilson school. A reading, "Practicing Domestic Science," was given by Marie Bosser. Jean Rinald danced and Richard Pardee played the piano. An accordion solo was presented by Norman Beckman.

At Roosevelt school, Earl Wenzel was master of ceremonies. Lois Schreiter and Gale Bock presented a tap dance with Charles Benjamin at the piano. Robert Belonger and Harold Belonger sang to the accompaniment of Robert's guitar. Tricks of magic with newspapers were presented by Guenther Holtz.

Lawn and Garden Authorities say-- FEED LAWNS NOW!

EARLY FEEDING BEST!
—say garden authorities—
Garden authorities agree that early spring—just as the frost is coming out of the ground—is by far the best time to feed lawns and perennial beds.
Feeding at this time is best because spring rains take the nourishment right down to the roots. There it is ready for the hungry plant when growth begins. It can start immediately to promote sturdy growth... give the grass a "head start" on the weeds. Furthermore, if the plant food is applied before growth starts it is not necessary to water it down.
This year make every dollar you spend for plant food go farther by feeding with Vigoro now.
Vigoro supplies all 11 of the vital food elements plants require from the soil. It is clean, odorless, and sanitary... a product of Swift.

Educators Off to Annual Parley at Green Bay Friday

R. L. Swanson, Appleton, Will Talk Before Science Section Meeting

Appleton public school teachers Friday will go to Green Bay to attend the annual convention of the Northeastern Wisconsin Education association.

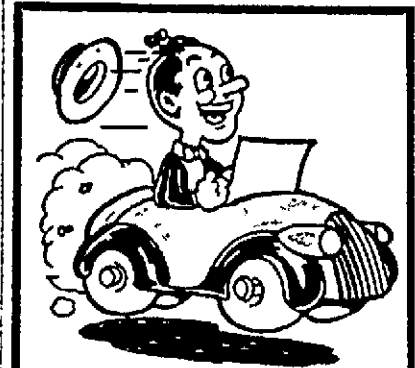

R. L. Swanson, an instructor at Wilson Junior High school will discuss the teaching of conservation in schools before a sectional meeting on science in the afternoon. Olin G. Dryer, Kaukauna High school principal, is chairman.

Six speakers in panel discussion will be on the program of the vocational guidance section, according to J. A. VanNatta, Sturgeon Bay, chairman. They will talk on the essential values of mental ability, aptitudes, personality and what industry does to meet maladjustment in persons. The speakers will be Miss Louise Stern, Green Bay; L. W. Emans, Waupaca; W. W. Hield, Green Bay; A. G. Burr, Madison; J. E. Phillips, Green Bay; and A. H. Edgerton, Madison.

The question "How Can the Public Library Come to the Schoolroom?" will be discussed by Mrs. Charles Veslak, Shawano, before the library section meeting. Miss Mary K. Reely, Madison, will review current books. Miss Jeanette Fox, Menasha, is chairman of the meeting. "Learning to Hear Vertically" is the subject of a talk to be given by Max T. Krone, Northwestern university, before the music teachers at the convention, Lester Skornicka, DePere, is chairman. Krone is director of choral work at the university. William R. Sur, Madison, will talk on "Understanding and Enjoyment For High schools." He is author of "Living Music."

Although the state of Wyoming traditionally is a state of strong winds, Lander, in the central part, has one of the "calmest" climates of any region in the nation, weather records show.

Nine High School Students Preparing Contest Orations

Kaukauna — Nine high school students are preparing orations under the direction of Thomas Nolan, faculty coach, for the all-school contest to be held soon. Four of the group will be chosen to participate in interscholastic meets, two entering the league contest at Two Rivers April 12 against Menasha, Neenah, and Two Rivers, and two competing at Shawano April 22 in the conference meet.

Students and their orations are: Thomas McCarthy, "Three Jewels"; John Velle, "The Crisis of 1939"; William Van Lieshout, "The House Divided"; John Burns, "Human Values"; Harold Stuber, "The American Citizen"; Mary Alice Flanagan, "Americanism"; Louis Vanderloop, "Believe It or Not"; Sherman Powers, "Americanism"; and Paul Akers, "Three Jewels."

Track Coach Hopes to Stage Four Home Meets

Kaukauna — Four home track meets for the Kaws are on a schedule which Clifford E. Kemp, track coach, is trying to arrange for this year's squad. Contemplated are two triangle meets, one with Seymour and Chilton and the other with Kimberly and Menasha, and dual affairs with West DePere and New London. The Kaws probably will travel to Neenah for a dual meet with the Rockets. In addition they will participate in an outdoor intrasquad meeting, an outdoor meet, conference meet and state meet.

High School Students Write Contest Essays

Kaukauna — Twelve Kaukauna high school students have prepared essays to be entered in the annual youth forum sponsored by American magazine. Topics for discussion are "What I Owe America" and "New Frontiers for American Youth." Those who have written papers are Robert Johnson, Robert Helf, Kathleen Coppes, Evelyn Seidel, Magdalene Otte, Gertrude Rann, Beth Bollinger, Jane Verfurth, Paul Revolt, Ruby Specht and Elizabeth Burns.

Government Employees Hear Safety Program

Kaukauna — About 75 government employees working on the Fox river from Menasha to Green Bay attended the annual district safety meeting last night in the council chambers. Talking on safety were Carl Holcum, district engineer, Nelson Wightman, district safety engineer, and Henry Hartwell, all of Milwaukee. Motion pictures demonstrating the proper methods of first aid treatment and proper safety precautions were shown.

Recreation Activities Moved to Legion Hall

Kaukauna — WPA recreational activities have been moved from 212 E. Second street to American Legion hall, according to Robert Wenzel and Miss Eva Hoffmann, recreational leaders. Almost 150 boys and girls have registered for the activities, which include harmonica classes, tumbling, folk dancing, choral singing, dramatics, arts and crafts and tap dancing. Additional registrations will be received after school on Mondays, Thursdays and Fridays and anytime on Saturdays.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

Little Theater Players Will Present 3-Act Drama Tonight

Kaukauna—Thirteen of Kaukauna's veteran thespians will introduce the most important effort of the recently organized Little Theater group, the 3-act drama, "April Spring Revolt," as 8:15 tonight in the civic auditorium. The high school glue club are sponsoring the production, and report a good advance sale of tickets. It is the first venture of the organization into the field of 3-act productions, heretofore confining its efforts to 1-act presentations.

The complete cast for the play is as follows: Mrs. Elizabeth Holt, an attractive young widow, Mary Jane Garrity; Annabelle Madden, a long-standing friend of Elizabeth's, Lynn Angeline; Mrs. Alden, a neighbor, Shirley Waite; Mrs. Langston, Elizabeth's housekeeper, Mrs. Frank Fernald; David, Elizabeth's son, Richard Hoolihan.

Others in Cast
Mary Lou, a 14-year-old, Bette McCarthy; Henry Fenstermacher, the high school football coach, Norbert Vanevenhoven; Miss Martin, reporter for the "Gazette," Robert Mooney; Jack Alden, David's teammate, Karl Kiochn.

Messenger boy, Orrin Romanesko;

Officer Clancy, Harold Rann; grocery boy, Herman Maes.

In charge of the setting are L. T. Ball, Brenzel Van Lieshout, Milton Vandenberg, stage properties, Carol Weitenbach; Caroline Kautz; hand properties, Josephine Barons, Dolores Dericks; bookholder, Mrs. John N. Cleland; makeup artist, Miss Ethelyn Handran; publicity, Robert Mooney; wardrobe, Mary Rann and Kathryn Ann Driessen.

Mrs. Harold Derus is directing the play.

Dr. Katherine Taylor To Address Teachers

Kaukauna—Dr. Katherine Taylor of the state department of mental hygiene will speak as the teachers' council meets for a dinner and program tonight. Teachers of the vocational and Outagamie Rural normal schools will be in charge with Miss Evelyn Gerharz, chairman.

DISTRIBUTE DIRECTORY
Kaukauna—The new Kaukauna telephone directory, with 1,033 subscribers, is being distributed to local residents. Distribution will be completed this week, according to Frank Geurtz, manager.

Committee Named to Plan Annual Senior Class Night Program

Kaukauna — The senior class has selected committees to make arrangements for the annual class night program, which will be held on Wednesday evening, June 7. Commencement is on Friday, June 9.

Those appointed are Clifford Kalka, chairman, Paul Akers, Ezra Richards, Jack Blake, class history; Louise Faust, chairman, Arlene Van Gompel, Peter Ling, class prophecy; Mariann Duprey, Tim McCarty, class will; Rita Taggart, Mariann Van Abel, Robert Helf, class memories; Clifford Fernald, class will; Patricia Mayer, farewell salute to the teachers; Herbert Weber, class picnic chairman. Faculty advisers for the program are Olin G. Dryer, Miss Frances Corry, Miss Ethelyn Handran, Miss Ann L. Gibbons, Miss Marcella Thompson, Miss Phyllis Krueger and Miss Edith Porterfield.

Today Is Deadline for Safety Poster Contest

Kaukauna—Today is the last day in which ninth grade students entered in the safety poster contest sponsored by the Kaukauna Women's club may submit their entries to Mrs. Anton Berkers, 212 Doty street, safety chairman. Entries will be judged and prizes of $1 and 50 cents given for the two best of five, to be submitted along with others from the eighth district of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's clubs. Winners in this competition will receive prizes of $3 and $2. B. D. Rice, high school manual arts instructor, is supervising the poster making.

Petitions Urge City To Acquire Golf Links

Kaukauna—Petitions are being circulated in the city asking the common council to buy or lease the former Kaukauna Golf club property now owned by Malachai Ryan. Ryan has offered to lease the links for $350 per year. The petitions emphasize that the city is not thinking of acquiring undeveloped land but a course ready to go.

Institute Will be Held for Farmers

Outagamie County Agent
To be in Charge of Kaukauna Session

Kaukauna — Farmers of Outagamie, Brown and Calumet counties will gather here tomorrow at the high school auditorium for a farm institute. J. F. Magnus, Outagamie county agricultural agent, will be in charge.

Morning and afternoon sessions will be held, with a free lunch served at noon in the domestic science rooms. The program will open at 9:45, with morning speakers Professor R. E. Vaughn of the University of Wisconsin, slated to talk on "Crops for the Dairy Farm," and Professor B. Collettine of the same institution, to present "Dairy Cattle Diseases and the Breeding Program."

The afternoon program will start at 1:15. James T. Judd, high school agricultural instructor, will speak on "Making Alfalfa Molasses Silage." Professor James Lacey will talk on "Diversified Farming" and demonstrate the cutting of home-killed pork. Prizes will be awarded to conclude the program.

Funeral Is Held for Mrs. Elizabeth Brackel

Kaukauna — Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Brackel were held at 8:30 Wednesday morning at Fargo Funeral home and at 9 o'clock at Holy Cross church, with the Rev.

Candidates Report Little Expense in Kaukauna Campaigns

Kaukauna — Whatever else may come of it, next Tuesday's election won't cost the candidates much, for expense accounts submitted show a total of only $21.50 for 14 of the 17 candidates. M. C. Connors, running for south side justice of the peace, reports the highest expense, $9, while his opponent, Abe Goldin, incumbent, has spent nothing. Other expenditures reported are Francis Rougeau, $3.50, and Chris Kinder, Jr., Joseph Bloch and George Proper, $3 each. No expenses were reported by Barney J. Mitchka, Peter Van Dyke, N. M. Haupt, Otto M. Ludtke, Oscar Alger, Edward Steidl, Walter Kilgas and Samuel Rasmusson.

Dohr and Fiedler at Relief Claim Hearing

District Attorney Raymond P. Dohr and County Relief Director George Fiedler are at Milwaukee today at a hearing of the state public service commission on a county relief claim against the city of Kenosha. The amount involved is $86.

A. Garthaus in charge. Burial was in the parish cemetery. Bearers were Jacob and Fred Ashauer, Henry Foegen, Peter Bergman, Joseph Hartzheim, Jr., and Frank Schmidt.

WORKS BOARD MEETS

Kaukauna — The board of public works held its regular session last night at the municipal building. Recommendations to be presented to the common council April 5 were drawn.

THE OCCUPANT OF ADLERHORST

It is a blustering March day. In front of Hitler's villa near Berchtesgaden stands a low, rakish car with powerful motors purring. The Fuehrer saunters toward it. Heels click as men stand at attention and salute. The Fuehrer deigns not to notice them but permits his gaze to wander over the mountains and forests that adorn the Bavarian landscape.

He enters the tonneau of the car and seats himself moodily without uttering a syllable. Gears mesh as the car moves out. It is on its way to Adlerhorst, the eagle's nest sitting dizzily on the very top of a crag called the Kehlstein and travels a recently constructed motor road that winds upward for a distance of about five miles.

Adlerhorst is as unique even in this world of unique structures as the fact that its master dominates 80 million of as intelligent and energetic people as the world knows.

The car cannot enter Adlerhorst but is brought to a halt in the face of a sheer cliff through which a tunnel lined with red marble leads for 400 feet into the very heart of the crag. Into an elevator at the end of the tunnel steps this silent, brooding dictator to be lifted another 400 feet up a shaft drilled through rock emerging at last into his retreat of solitude from which he may look down upon the clouds. He loves solitude. He craves the joy of walking alone accompanied only by his own thoughts. That overbearing austerity is born of solitude bothers him not. It is enough that he receives a strange reaction, a thrill of exaltation in the reflection that he is alone and that 80 millions go dutifully about their tasks as he has bid them and that other millions are fearless lest some purpose give birth there atop the earth may consign them to misery and humiliation. He spurns Samuel Johnson's celebrated statement that "the solitary mortal is certainly luxurious, probably superstitious, and possibly mad."

His thoughts are with the past as well as with the present and the future. His mind skims over the magnificent record of Bismarck, of his simple yet powerful work, and how in cementing together the Germanic races it outlasted his own prophecy. In a melancholy strain his thoughts dart over that period of great obsession with him, the World war, and he sees mighty armies in a titanic struggle for supremacy. For those who weakened in that terrible holocaust he has hatred but not a tear of pity. His antipathy toward the German princes whose record was that of nonentities is fierce and vehement and the injustice he does other elements of his own population for the defeat of German arms is quick and merciless.

Riches do not dazzle him. Honor and pride are everything. The army is his fetish. Men are worthless unless they can stand erect while listening to the singing bullets.

Upon the will and moods of this man, the strange and uncharitable courses of mind, the lightning flashes of intellect that may be occasioned even by pagan music, revolves the course of the German empire.

It is a strange situation pregnant with wild possibilities. But it is a condition and not a theory.

"Men of genius are meteors, destined to burn up in their century may be illuminated," said Napoleon, who also dreamed that he was an eagle perched upon a crag watching the world with a steadfast eye.

Alas, if his words were only true. Too often it is the people who are burned to cinders in the flames started by those who so mistakenly conceive themselves as bearing divine fire.

THE LAW OF TOOTH AND CLAW

Poland has benefited by a sight of the prostrate figure of Czechoslovakia.

The proposal by Britain, France and Russia that Poland join them in a "Stop Hitler" move reveals the astonishing hope that people have in the national amnesia of others.

Poland had just witnessed the Czechs torn to pieces despite their treaties with France and Russia. They had seen the Czechs, because of faith in these treaties, take a defiant and hostile attitude toward Berlin, and they must have realized that were it not for the feeling of security these treaties engendered the Czechs might have gotten along a great deal better with the Reich.

Poland doesn't care to be made a shambles by the thundering conflict between military giants. Probably more than any one thereabouts it craves peace. But it isn't going to delude itself by relying upon a staff made of chaff glued together with a thin gruel of sticky words.

The Poles are not cynical. But they must face reality. They don't believe that calling a bayoneted rifle a peacock's feather will take the sting out of it.

So they arm and prepare and hope. And in the meantime they endeavor very properly to remain friendly with all.

Even in a very critical position and with the smell of gunpowder in its nostrils Poland made a decision that evidenced a keenness of intellect we might have well used at Washington.

SURPRISING MEXICO

An American by the name of Smoot, now 77 years of age, has come to grips with the Mexican government. And our ambassador there, in the way he has handled this matter to date, indicates that he is at last alive to the purpose of an American diplomat.

Mr. Smoot owns about a dozen acres of land which he says he bought in 1899. While ago the Mexican government said it would take over this land, that it needed it for a navy dry-dock. Mr. Smoot drily observed that Mexico hasn't any navy and that the property was too far inland for a dry-dock. He took the affair into court and the Mexican supreme court by an astonishing decree decided in his favor.

Thereupon the Mexican government proceeded along the lines pursued by the Nazis with Parson Niemoeller. Mr. Smoot was cast into jail upon the charge that 17 years ago he imported some lumber into Mexico without paying duty.

But this Smoot is as tough as a hickory nut. He dug up his papers to prove that the lumber was imported for the Mexican government for a job he, as an engineer, was supervising for them, and passed the border free of duty for that reason.

In this situation Ambassador Daniels went to the Mexican authorities and made a vigorous protest asserting that the whole proceeding against Smoot looked like a murky piece of work. Smoot is a little more forthright and calls it just "dirty."

The Mexican government, greatly surprised that the American ambassador could show any spunk, promptly interceded and released Smoot on nominal bail.

Mr. Smoot charges that since the Mexican supreme court decided in his favor the Reds have attacked the judges for their "unpatriotic decision." We cannot complain so much against this attack, because, colored up a bit, it may have been imported from our own country.

Perhaps we are expecting too much from Mr. Daniels by reason of this incident. Possibly the old gentleman had a bad night of it before the Smoot affair broke, which may account for the vigor and the pepper of his action.

No one proposes that Americans abroad be treated with any favoritism at all. But the prevailing practice today is to kick them around like a toothless dog and divest them of their property and their rights just as contemptuously as Hitler picks the pockets of the Jews.

And any government that can look upon such conduct from month to month and year to year without interceding in very certain fashion has something so craven in its makeup it is bound to reveal itself at home as it has appeared abroad.

DEFICITS

As congress convenes one of the principal questions in citizens' thought is, "What will they do to the budget this time?" It was not so long ago that budget deficits in the United States were something to be ashamed of. Now, however, they have become an arm of government. And the arm is decked out with a philosophy. No congressional debate will set forth that philosophy better than the letter Mariner S. Eccles, chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve system, wrote to Senator Harry F. Byrd a few days ago.

This is no new idea with Chairman Eccles. Ever since he became the head of the Federal Reserve system, he has stoutly maintained the thesis that, when private spending begins to fall off, government spending should take its place. There is, of course, spending and spending. Mr. Eccles does not mean spending out of tax receipts. That is merely a subtraction of the people's spending power for use by government agencies. What Mr. Eccles means is spending out of money borrowed from the bank resources, a deficit financing of such things as public works.

In this way, according to the reserve head, the government can make a "net contribution to community buying power" to the amount over and above the money which is not taken from the taxpayer. In new economics language, the government should act as a "compensatory agency" when private spending falls away.

However, government spending outside the budget is easily abused. It was President Roosevelt who, when he was an economist, declared that in history liberal governments were most often wrecked on the rocks of loose fiscal policy. Without restraint deficit spending can easily degenerate into a gigantic "pork barrel."

The evidence in possession of the Shepherd committee of the politicalizing of the WPA is a case in point.

Thus, while the Eccles theory is extremely plausible and perhaps inevitable, what is required is a better check on deficit financing. A fiscal machine fitted with an accelerator but no brake, can be a juggernaut. The danger causes even those who feel the Eccles policy is unsound as an economic theory to shrink from the political logic of it.—Christian Science Monitor.

DALE HARRISON'S
In Old New York

New York—I have a good notion to become an honest man. I have a good notion to write from now on nothing but the truth.

I have toyed with the idea long enough. This is Decision Day. But I must weigh the consequences with care. It is dangerous to commit oneself unreservedly to honest writing.

The intentions of every writing man I know are entirely honorable. If his chore is the painting of a daily picture of New York, he paints with the best of intentions.

The difficulty lies not in the writers but in the formulae. It lies, too, in the hypnotism of phrase-making—a hypnotism that lulls a man into believing he has written a great truth when, as a matter of fact, he has written merely a great wisecrack.

The formulae are two: glamour and clamor. In each there is some truth in both there is much fiction. Whenever any writer attempts to wander from the formulae he winds up, thirsty and sun-fried, in the great American desert of public opinion.

There are many gopher holes in the path of him who would run with an honest typewriter. There are so many, indeed, that there is little doubt but what the runner will be stumbling and bruising himself most of the way.

As a matter of fact, dishonesty—or fantastic exaggeration, which is the same thing—is considered a proper and essential tool of art, either writing or painting. Dickens made Scrooge an exaggerated miser and Tiny Tim an exaggerated angel-child in order that he might the better score his climax. Cartoonists are notorious dishonest. Taxpayers, for example, do not wander around in barrels anywhere except in cartoons.

The unspoken but silent accepted credo among many daily reporters of the New York scene is: Honesty is the Worst Policy. This does not mean the writers deliberately set out to hoax anyone. They have come, through a series of trial and error, to believe that the American public wants its New York served with stereotyped garnish, peppered with Big Names and seasoned with the innuendo that the writer knows a lot more than he is willing to say.

I presume they are right. The only reason I am toying with the idea of writing nothing but the truth hereafter is the sheer novelty of it. I have no doubt it would be deadly reading. People surely would tire of reading about night clubs around which have been draped the glamour of a hundred sparkling eulogies being revealed as actually nothing but dirty, smoke-filled basements inhabited by cheap bawds and ratty men; or that a famous congressman upon whom we depend for righteous lawmaking is, privately, a toper and a moral scallawag.

Maybe, after all, it would be better to keep on the tried-and-found-adequate treadmill, and not cast glances at the untrampled lawns of sheer truth.

A certain innate gullibility contributes occasionally to make me a literary liar even though my intentions are entirely honorable. There are in New York certain fellows with axes to grind who will put me in the way of getting nice items without also telling me that by using the items I also serve a cause—the cause, most likely being themselves. I have fallen for their fancy talk on one or two occasions. Today I am wiser. In fact, I am getting so wary I have even quit eating bash at home.

There, in 600 words, you have a movie of a Man Wrestling with Himself. Down in Mississippi there is a physician who wrote me the other day: "I can always tell whether your column is good or bad on a given day. If it is broken into several short items it is bad. If it is all on one subject, it is good."

Well, Doctor, I certainly fooled you this time. (Copyright, 1939)

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO
Thursday, March 28, 1929

Navigation on the upper and lower Fox river and on Lake Winnebago was to open officially at 6 o'clock the following Monday morning, according to word received by A. F. Everett, government engineer, from the Milwaukee engineering office.

Four Lawrence college track stars were to get their first taste of competition of the season when they competed in an indoor meet at the Marquette university gymnasium. The men entered in the meet by Coach A. C. Denney were DeWay Ellis, Charles Wolfe, Ray Menning and Ray Bruns.

Local bankers anticipated confusion when the new small sized paper money was put into circulation the following July. It was expected that the two sizes of paper money would be in circulation for some time and tellers probably would need separate compartments in their money drawers so that new bills would not become hidden under the larger ones.

25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, April 2, 1914

There was to be opposition in five wards for the part of supervisor. In the First ward, Louis Bonini was to oppose Harry Shannon. John Stark and William Commerford were candidates in the Second ward. John Tracy and Michael Jacob were fourth ward candidates and Sixth ward candidates were Ernest Kosch, Henry Junge and M. H. Hoffman. Joseph Beyer and Harry Ames sought the Third ward post and Nick Schaefer was unopposed in the Fifth. Albert Deltgen, 820 Richmond street, an employee of the Van Wyk creamery, the previous night was appointed motor policeman by the fire and police commission.

Bishop J. C. Hartzel of Africa would in all probability deliver the Lawrence college commencement sermon that spring. An invitation had been extended to him, and a letter that morning practically assured Dr. Samuel Plantz he would come.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

TO A LION TAMER
(Clyde Beatty)

Seeing him, by the stern power of his will, Command the tigers and subdue the king Of beasts, who know him to be greater still Than they, and mark forebodings all take wing; And for a moment we, too, have no fear Of the striped tiger who roams on the earth, Lashing at liberty that once tamed clear, Spoiling the sunshine with his snarling girth.

Over the threat of war there is a Power That holds the whip, and brings the beasts in line.

There comes to every one a solemn hour When he is face to face with a divine And stronger will than his. . . . Send us, we pray, One who can hold the beasts of war at bay! (Copyright, 1939)

A Bystander
In Washington

BY GROVER PRESTON

Washington—The silly prospect that the United States might have a hundred or more laws suddenly brought to life after being killed by various Presidents during the past 125 years has stirred members of Congress to pave the way for a new test case on the validity of the "pocket veto."

In order to make the test case possible without upsetting the whole country, a bill is being routed through Congress repealing all the old bills, some dating back to 1812, which were killed by a pocket veto, or some procedure akin to it.

Rep. Hutton W. Summers of Texas, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, already has steered it through the House.

Ten years ago the Supreme Court upheld the validity of the "pocket veto," a device used by Presidents to kill bills without the necessity of giving a reason in a formal veto message. But in its last session, the Supreme Court took a step which Summers said went a long way toward a reversal of the ten-year-old decision. He hopes to bring about a reversal so as to end pocket vetoes but he thinks the state ought to be first wiped clean of all old legislation which has been accepted as dead these many years.

About 130 Victims

Altogether about 130 acts of Congress have "died" by pocket veto. The first was a naturalization bill killed by President Madison. He also knocked off the second one, a bill to permit free importation of stereographs plates used in printing. His were not truly pocket vetoes but the process and effect were the same.

Among the first real pocket vetoes, where the bill was just stowed away in a pigeon hole, was applied by President Johnson to the Nebraska statehood bill in 1868. After that the device was applied often. If it should be held unconstitutional all sorts of things would become potentially valid. Summers says later legislation or changed conditions have nullified many of the measures but the possibilities are enormous.

It Happened This Way
The pocket veto problem arose this way:

There usually are two sessions of Congress. The Constitution gives the President ten days after receiving a bill either to veto it or approve it. If he does neither, it becomes law regardless if he vetoes it has to get it back to Congress within the ten days or the veto doesn't count. There is an exception. Bills jammed through in the final days of the last session of a Congress obviously cannot be returned when vetoed, because the Congress which passed them no longer exists.

But an entirely different situation arises after adjournment of the first session. For these many years the Presidents have assumed that because Congress was not physically in session after adjourning the first session the executive could not return vetoed bills to Congress within 10 days, and since he couldn't he didn't have to. And since he couldn't, he didn't sign them dead. That is the pocket veto. Clear?

Summers contends the idea is unconstitutional. He says the President CAN deliver a bill back to Congress after a first session by simply delivering it to the secretary. He calls it "constructive" delivery. That would give Congress, at its second session, a right to pass the bill over the veto.

The secretary, Summers says, is a lawful agent of the Congress so long as the Congress itself is still in going concern. And it still is after a first session.

In its ten-year-old decision the Supreme Court said this "constructive" delivery of a bill by handing it to the secretary would not work. But in its decision last session it held that it would work at least while one house is in session. The case arose when a vetoed Senate bill was returned on the 10th day while the Senate was having a week-end rest. The court held that while the Senate was not actually there, its secretary was, and could take the bill.

Summers thought that was skating a narrow line. He has a hunch the court may reverse itself when a new test case is filed—and one is being arranged.

The executive budget figure, however, yet has some interesting political connotations, as the Taxpayers' Alliance discreetly hinted, because of its size. This is especially true because of the economy talk during the last campaign.

To get a preview of what the politicians will be saying about the Heil budget during the next campaign (remember that the legislature will very probably increase his original figure) study the following table of comparisons of the following previous administrations with the Heil figures:

	Total
Kohler	$54,098,848
LaFollette	$59,181,172
Schmedeman	$49,941,490
LaFollette	$60,362,993
LaFollette	$71,465,257
Heil	$68,733,133

Significantly, Mr. Heil's budget excludes consideration of a relief appropriation, so that it seems likely that his total will be as high as LaFollette's, as high as any during the depression decade, and the highest in state history. Significant, too the lowest budget, and the best economy record, appears to be held by a Democrat, Schmedeman, which encourages those Democratic spokesmen who are already looking forward to 1940.

THE ROME-BERLIN AXIS WITH THE EMPHASIS ON BERLIN

Under the
CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The Wisconsin Taxpayers' Alliance, with its corps of research men, maintained its periodic news service on state taxation and fiscal problems on a high level. It burrowed into public financial problems and offers its findings to the public which pays the tax bill.

This week it pointed out a fact which is often overlooked in the political debates and legislative procedure on state budgets. It is the fact that the executive budget bill drawn up by each administration represents only a fractional part of the state government's total expenditures. The Alliance pointed out, for example, that Governor Heil's $67,000,000 recommended budget is only about 37 per cent of the amount the state and its departments will spend during the next two years.

The other 63 per cent is made up by non-budgetary expenditures, such as the tremendous sums disbursed by the state highway commission, the conservation department, the University of Wisconsin, the teachers colleges, and the apportioned amounts of state aids which are sent to state departments from Washington and for which no accounting to the legislature is necessary.

That fact is essential to an understanding of state finance. It is important to know, for example, that the state highway commission, out of sight and out of the heat of the political battles over budgets, annually disburses more funds than all the other state departments provided for in the governor's budget together. When taxpayers talk about state economy, they should consider the actual state expenditures in the next two year period of something like $177,000,000, instead of the $67,000,000 figure used in the executive budget.

The executive budget figure, however, yet has some interesting political connotations, as the Taxpayers' Alliance discreetly hinted, because of its size. This is especially true because of the economy talk during the last campaign.

To get a preview of what the politicians will be saying about the Heil budget during the next campaign (remember that the legislature will very probably increase his original figure) study the following table of comparisons of the following previous administrations with the Heil figures:

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

PROPHYLAXIS AND ANAPHYLAXIS

Most laymen know more or less definitely what prophylaxis and prophylactic mean. For means for, before, in behalf of, and phyla means guard. Prophylaxis is prevention of disease; a prophylactic being an agent which prevents disease. I am giving our medical interpretation. Of course prophylaxis may apply to prevention of other things as well as disease. Then the doctors use the term in a still more special sense, to signify a surface cleaning of the teeth.

Anaphylaxis is not so familiar. It means the opposite, increased susceptibility. Anaphylaxis is the opposite of immunity. As physicians use this term it applies to the perceptibility to the effects of any foreign protein substance introduced into the body by other route than normal digestion. And when this peculiar reaction occurs physicians assume that the specific foreign protein has been introduced into the body previously, by one route or another.

The most familiar anaphylactic reaction is the distress which occurs in certain individuals the first time they receive a dose of horse serum, or in some instances the second time such serum is administered. The reaction may manifest itself as intense itching with erythema (reddening of the skin) or hives, or as an asthmatic attack, or as a violent gastro-intestinal disturbance with vomiting, pain or colic, diarrhea.

As a precaution against such distress, when it is necessary to administer a serum, the physician may first give a small test dose of the serum by injecting only a minute fraction of the dose and waiting for an hour. If no unpleasant reaction occurs within that time it is quite safe to administer the full dose, the annoying hives or similar discomfort may occur a few days after a dose of serum in any case. If a patient has received horse serum at some previous time, or if the patient is subject to asthma, horse serum should not be administered without preliminary desensitization of the patient. Bovine serum should be used in such circumstances.

There is no instance on record where alarming or fatal anaphylactic shock has followed the administration of antitoxin as a remedy for diphtheria. Only where the serum is used for other purposes. A person who has been so sensitized to the disease is in danger to be guarded against. There is no justification for hesitating to give a person ill of diphtheria the full dose of antitoxin immediately, and if I were the patient I should want all of the antitoxin in the first dose.

I'd rather receive 50,000 or more units at once than to fiddle along with 10,000 or 20,000 unit doses. I do not believe one can receive too much antitoxin in any case; I know that if more is given than is necessary to neutralize or antidote all the diphtheria poison or toxin in the system, the superfluous antitoxin is absolutely harmless. If my condition were not too desperate I'd want the doctor to pump a few checkers for first, then play me a few hands of red dog or a game of checkers for an hour, and then if I were still feeling comfortable I'd want him to shoot the remaining 79,755 units home and call it a day.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Have A Baby

I wanted to ask you about having a baby. Would you advise it? My husband used to drink heavily before we married. He has never taken a drop since marriage. Would the poison be out of his system by now (24 years), or would a child of his be likely to be defective? (J. J. L.)

Answer—The "poison" is out of the system within a week or two after the drinking is stopped. But the damage done by alcohol may be permanent. It would be better, to take the question up with your family physician who knows your husband's condition. My impulse is to believe you should go ahead and raise your family, but your own doctor can judge best.

We have been waiting for that new baby book you said was nearly ready. How do you expect people to carry on and take care of their babies if Dr. (Ol' Doc) Brady lets them down, in these hard times? (F. B.)

Answer—Ding it, didn't I announce the new addition of the baby book? Seems as if the so many things interrupted my bowling nowadays, and when the weather is so balmy—the weather, I said. Send ten cents coin and a three-cent-stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask for the Brady Better Bigger Baby Book. The odd B is inserted to indicate that it is the sixth edition. Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, 265 E. Camino, South, Beverly Hills, Calif. (Copyright, 1939)

Hour Early Here

Voting Places Open From
7 a. m. to 7 p. m.
On Tuesday

Voting in Appleton in the April 4 election will begin an hour later and end an hour earlier in accordance with an ordinance adopted last month by the city council.

The new ordinance stipulates that the polls shall open at 7 o'clock in the morning and close at 7 o'clock in the evening. In previous elections, except the last primary, the polls were open from 8 o'clock in the morning to 8 o'clock in the evening.

Voters who have not registered may do so by signing an affidavit carrying the signatures of two freeholders. All voters must be registered in the ward in which they wish to vote or election board officials will not accept their ballots. Changes of address must be recorded at the city clerk's office.

Following are the various polling places in each of the 18 wards: First ward, city hall; Second ward, Armory; Third ward, Robertson Woodcraft, 803 N. Union street; Fourth ward, Franklin school; Fifth ward, Columbus school; Sixth ward, Rehfeldt's garage, 1525 N. Clark street; Seventh ward, Washington school; Eighth ward, Water department building; Ninth ward, Columbia hall, 403 S. State street; Tenth ward, Jefferson school; Eleventh ward, Guenther's garage, 1318 W. Second street; Twelfth ward, McKinley school; Thirteenth ward, Richmond school; Fourteenth ward, Edison school; Fifteenth ward, Applebaker's garage, 1028 E. 'CURB SERVICE'

Karnes City, Tex. — (AP) — Tom Smiley, former county judge, has applied the curb service idea to law practice. He has erected a "curb service" office, nine by 14 feet, on a street opposite the court house.

"People don't like to trot up stairs to determine if a man is in his office," says the former judge, who resigned last year to run for associate justice of the state supreme court.

"It takes only a minute and no effort to find out whether I am here and if I am out there is a blackboard that tells where I may be found. If the office gets crowded there are benches outside where people can sit."

Parents Must be Patient With Children in Adolescent Stage

BY ANGELO PATRI

If there is anything on earth—anything human I mean—that is more trying on the nerves and the patience of mothers than a boy between ten and twelve years of age, I have not met it.

From birth onward their mothers wash them, guard them, teach them to play, to work, to behave with human intelligence, and yet, at this age, when they look intelligent, when they look like reasonable human children, they try the patience of the saints.

Let mother be busy for just one bedtime. Do they wash themselves thoroughly, put away their clothes, leave the bathroom tidy, remember to brush their teeth? Not they. Into bed they pile, and one can count himself fortunate if they remember to take off their shoes. Wash their teeth? Brush their hair? Say their prayers? Why spoil a rare occasion with such reminders? They are holding holiday.

We may just as well be reconciled to the situation. They are like that. Washing and brushing and being nice is foreign to their natures which are human, and of the earth, earthy. The customs and manners we are trying to impose upon them are a recent idea, only a few hundred years old, while the carefree go-as-you-like idea is old as the race. One must teach and wait hopefully, with what patience one may.

In time they learn. They are learning all the time. It does not show on the surface. Growth in children is like growth in young trees. It is underground for the earlier years. Root growth. It is slow and sure and in time, substantial.

"But I tell him and tell him, and then he comes to the table dirty. I teach and teach, yet if my eye is off him he will pick up his meat in his fingers, or choke himself with a mouthful like a half of hay. I am discouraged."

Don't be. His father did the same. You in your way, did the same. Fathers and mothers are always discouraged about the growth of manners and morals in their children. But they do grow, and, in time, they do function. They are growing stronger every day, with every lesson on their backs.

It is best to make those lessons as pleasant as possible so the growth is accompanied by as little unpleasantness as possible.

I always remember with glee the time a small boy was invited to a select birthday party and his mother

Should Have Played Ace to Beat Contract

BY ELY CULBERTSON

At match-point duplicate, when a declarer finds himself in an excellent contract and one that he should realize will not be general around the room, he should cast aside all thoughts of overtricks and concentrate on the main point—bringing home the contract.

In the recent Eastern championships top score on a certain board was won by a South player who landed in a one spade doubled contract. He fulfilled it—but probably does not yet know how near he came to converting his "top" into a nice, fat zero.

North, dealer.

The bidding:

North East South West

1 club Pass 1 spade Double

Pass Pass Pass

I need hardly point out that North's bid was decidedly skimpy for all of his three honor tricks. His selection of one club as the opening bid obviously was based on the thought that this was the only choice that would make rebid problems easy; that is, he could respond to any suit no trump, except hearts with one no trump, could raise a one heart response to two. Although this spirit of preparedness was laudable, I do not think much of opening a hand as bare as North's. I must admit, however, that in this case the bid had a marvelous result. East passed over one club with the obvious intention of "trapping." I am inclined to think that he should have risked a one spade over-call.

His outcrop since it was then South who bid a spade. South, too, worked on the principle of preparedness. His hand was not quite strong enough to warrant an initial heart response and a later spade bid, hence he avoided this "reverse responding" by mentioning the higher ranking suit first. West's takeout double was logical under the circumstances and East's leave-in hardly can be criticized.

West opened the club king and, unfortunately for his team, continued with the queen. Declarer ruffed and led a diamond to the king. Then, in a sudden excess of optimism at the thought of possibly making over-tricks, declarer led a low heart from dummy. East discarded a diamond (no doubt giving declarer quite a shock) and West won with the ten. At this point a very shrewd play on West's part would have defeated the contract. Admittedly the play required great foresight and imagination, but I do not feel that it should have been beyond the powers of a tournament player. West should have laid down the heart ace, cheerfully relinquishing his tenace position in order to give his partner the opportunity to discard another diamond. West could take it for granted that East had not left in the double without excellent spades, hence the greatest danger from the defenders' point of view was that declarer would make low trumps on a cross-ruff.

Actually West could not bring himself to laying down the heart ace and compromised on shifting to a trump as the best method of stopping the aforesaid cross-ruff. Unfortunately for him this play was ineffectual. Declarer went right up with dummy's trump ace and ruffed a third club with the spade jack. He returned to dummy with a diamond to the ace and led a fourth club. East had to follow and declarer brought home his one queen of spades. A diamond ruff with the three of spades produced the seventh trick and fulfilled the contract.

It will be seen that if West had cashed the heart ace, thus permitting East to discard another diamond, and then had shifted to a spade the contract inevitably would have been defeated.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane

Psychologist, Northwestern University

Every person in public life or in an executive post has learned that you cannot please everybody at the same time. An editor, especially, knows that he is likely to receive vigorous praise as well as violent criticism for almost every editorial he runs. Look at the two reactions below and then magnify that situation a thousand times if you wish to visualize the dilemma of an editor.

CASE M-188: Lars J., aged 52, is a prominent dentist in Ohio. "I only wish that psychology had been a part of my college education," he wrote me some time ago. "When we graduated, we had to learn by bitter experience and

"After reading in Tuesday's JOURNAL the article by Dr. George W. Crane, the psychologist," ran this letter, "I am thoroughly convinced that his CASE RECORDS are not fit reading for anyone old or young."

"They are degrading and sound like the ideas came from a sex-crazed mind."

"Why not give our young people, who need it most, the clear, sound advice such as George Antheil (a local writer, I presume) gave them and rid our paper of this vulgar, nonsensical bunk."

The motive of the woman who wrote that letter to her editor can be explained on at least two counts. In the first place, it is obvious that she is trying to reinstate the column or writings by Mr. Antheil, and thus desires this column removed to give him room.

That is her privilege, and if this column isn't rendering as profound and educational service to the community as the one which it seems to have replaced, then CASE RECORDS should be cancelled at once.

The valuable space in such a great educational medium as the daily newspaper should not be devoted to second-rate material. As professor of the Psychology of Advertising and Selling, I always urge my students to sell their customers the best merchandise obtainable at the given price.

I am perfectly willing to take my own medicine, therefore, and should like to see an annual "consumer survey" or reader survey of all newspaper features to find whether or not they are meeting the maximum reader interests and community needs.

If I were a politician, running for a national office such as the presidency, then I suppose I should avoid controversial subjects and always try to rub the fur of everybody the right way.

Being a scientist, instead of a politician, however, I simply try to present helpful cases from my own consulting practice, so that you can benefit thereby in rearing your children, avoiding divorce, making marital relations more happy and secure, improving your personality, or using modern applied psychology in your business, factory, or profession.

I write the scientific views of today, not of Tompkins's vintage. The average newspaper reader is a young person, not over 35 years of age. He was born after the year 1900. I'll hazard a guess that most of my critics were born prior to that date.

In speech or writing, moreover, never go to such extremes as this lady for she brands herself as emotionally wrought up, and this fact reduces the value of her letter in the eyes of the editor.

Roosevelt Given Power to Change Executive Groups

New Reorganization Law Far Different From First Proposal

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—At long last President Roosevelt has the power to "reorganize" the executive agencies and departments of the federal government. The historic fight against so-called "usurpation" is over and the outcries about dictatorship are no longer heard. One reason is that the new law is a far different proposal than that which caused such a deluge of telegrams and letters a year ago. Another reason is that congress may veto any change in the federal establishment within 60 days after the rearrangement has been promulgated as an executive order. The chances for dilatory action through prolonged debate or through delay in committees have been diminished. Reorganization will, therefore, be possible on its merits, with the congress participating in the result either by acquiescence or by veto.

There is one provision inserted in the law at the request of Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Democrat, which imposes upon the president the obligation not to abolish any existing functions when he transfers bureaus or agencies. This may prove more theoretical than real as an obstacle to reorganization, because functions have rarely been defined with any degree of minuteness except in appropriation bills or the general statutes authorizing a bureau or department, and congress has always had the power to add by the appropriation route that which the president or his associates may have omitted in their projects each year.

There is no change in the status of the quasi-judicial commissions or in the office of the comptroller general, and other features around which controversy ranged have also been eliminated. But a start has been made toward a reconstruction of the executive branch of the government, and if attention is focused thereon on efficiency, it is going to be exceedingly worth while in the long run.

When "reorganization" of the government departments was proposed in the latter part of 1936, in fact, just after the elections, this correspondent pointed out that the Democratic party had a remarkable opportunity, because it possessed such an overwhelming majority and that, heretofore, moves to reorganize the government had been blocked by bi-partisan coalitions. Had the president put the reorganization of the executive departments ahead of all other business, the power would have been granted in the January, 1937, session. But for reasons of his own, Mr. Roosevelt preferred to give priority to the proposal to "reorganize" the supreme court of the United States. This provoked a nation-wide fight on the subject of "usurpation" of power, and when the fight was lost in congress, the same atmosphere of friction carried over into the proposals to "reorganize" the executive branch of the government. Cries of "dictatorship" were heard and almost as much excitement was developed as had surrounded the supreme court controversy, with the result that the administration lost again.

As was explained at that time, the battle over "reorganization" was not at all the concern only of those who were defending a principle of constitutional government. It was directly related to the efforts of government employees, regardless of party, to prevent their jobs from being abolished. Indeed, perhaps the latter was the strongest influence exerted against the bill, and opposition was understandable because no group of employees can be blamed for trying to substitute security for insecurity in employment.

But every president of the United States for almost 50 years has felt that something ought to be done about reorganizing the executive branch of the government, and there have been excellent plans proposed by Republican as well as Democratic presidents, only to have the political influence in congress knock them overboard.

Regardless of the unfortunate atmosphere which surrounded the 1937 fight "reorganization" from which, doubtless, in the minds of many readers, the word has become associated with some drastic development of 1-man power, the enactment of the law this week is a step in the right direction and will no doubt be followed by even stronger pressure to abolish functions and bureaus if the next administration should happen to be opposite to the present in political complexion. For the surest way to dislocate existing jobholders who have been covered into civil service, for instance, by the present

'GREAT WALTZ' NOW AT ELITE

The life and loves of Johann Strauss, Vienna's waltz king, are presented in "The Great Waltz," spectacular drama of the days of Franz Josef, which is the headline attraction at the Elite Theatre today and tomorrow. Luise Rainer, Fernand Gravel, French star of "The King and the Chorus Girl," and Miliza Korjus, brilliant European opera star and Continental beauty, head the cast. Gravel plays Strauss, Luise Rainer, his wife, and Miliza Korjus, the singer he adored but who sent him back to the wife who loved him. The story covers Strauss' rise to fame, his marriage, his great love, his opera triumph, the Revolution, and finally as an old man, his triumph at the court of Emperor Franz Josef.

DANGEROUS SERVICE

They saw the plane make straight towards them from the coast. It was a small machine. It looked as if Petrel was right. It was traveling fast.

"I don't suppose she carries wireless. No loving messages this time," Jim told her. He was glad, because she was glad.

"I don't need any other message," she said.

A shriek went up from the decks. Were they to be attacked, even at sea?

The plane was nearly overhead. With a roar of engine, it swooped low over the bridge, and the decks in a gay salute. Petronella could see Tony's head and shoulders plainly. He waved from the cockpit. He was hatless. She waved back, wildly, excited. Rosita, who had rushed

In a way, the "reorganization" law may be the prelude to a political shake-up such as we have not witnessed in years—assuming, of course, that the present administration should have the misfortune of losing at the polls in 1940.

and waved and squeaked. Rising again, before the British Navy had had time to hoist a signal of demonstration at dangerous flying, the plane turned and headed northwards. Petrel followed it with Jim Blake's glasses, till Tony's head became indistinct.

"He will be home before me," she sighed, lowering them, and gazing after him in deep satisfaction. "But how long will he stay there?" She smiled, without turning her eyes from Tony's plane. "That's something you don't have to ask, if you're married to trouble."

District President Issues Call for May 2-3 Convention Of Federated Women's Clubs

THE call for the silver jubilee convention of the Eighth District Federation of Women's Clubs May 2 and 3 at Two Rivers is being sent out this week to clubs in the district. Mrs. Edgar V. Werner, district president, Mrs. James B. Wagg, district chairman of club institutes, and Mrs. George R. Wetzel, district chairman of adult education, were in Two Rivers Tuesday to make the final arrangements.

The convention will mark not only the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Eighth district but also of the Two Rivers Woman's club.

Speakers will include Mrs. Louise Leonard Wright, Chicago, chairman of the foreign policy committee of the National League of Women Voters, whose subject will be "The Pan-American Conference." Dr. R. J. Colbert of the University of Wisconsin extension division, who will speak on "The Practical Preparation of 21-Year-Old Young People for Citizenship" and conduct a forum; Miss Susan B. Davis, assistant dean of women at the University of Wisconsin and dean of freshmen girls, whose subject will be "What to Expect of Your Daughters." Mrs. Walter E. Rogers, Appleton, who will speak on Audubon and show her collection of bird pictures; Mrs. Harold W. Miller, department president of American Legion Auxiliary, who will give a talk on "Cooperation with War Veterans;" Arthur Eckly, Two Rivers, who will speak about "Recreation in the Small Communities;" Mrs. Roger Jones, Seymour, chairman of the Eighth district law observance department, who will explain her department; and Lester Bentley, Two Rivers artist, who will exhibit some of his paintings.

Australia to Be Topic at Club Meeting

"Australia" is the topic for study at the meeting of Delphian club at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Appleton Woman's club. Mrs. E. K. Nielsen is chairman of the program committee and Mrs. Gustava J. Koller and Mrs. John Bonini will assist. The club is continuing its study of island possessions of Great Britain. The meeting is being advanced one week because of Holy Week.

Miss Helen Schmidt reviewed Franz Werfel's book "Heavenly Creatures" at the meeting of the Tuesday Study club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. L. Kolb, 523 S. Mueller street. At the business meeting a yearbook committee consisting of Mrs. M. D. Bro, Mrs. W. O. Thiede and Mrs. Delmar Peterson was appointed. The club's next meeting will be April 12 at the home of Mrs. Delmar Peterson, 218 N. Lawe street.

Edgar Hagene, instructor at Appleton High school, led the discussion on dating and social relationships at the joint meeting of Trojan Hi-Y club and Little Women's circle of King's Daughters Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. About 30 young people were present. James Donohue entertained with piano selections and refreshments were served by the Hi-Y members.

When Mrs. Loran Wheeler, N. Bennett street, was hostess to her club last night at her home, prizes were won by Mrs. Carl Schwendler and Mrs. Clarence Zoelk. In two weeks the club will meet with Mrs. Alfred Plette, W. Commercial street.

Over the Teacups club will meet Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joseph Koffend, 230 W. Prospect avenue. Mrs. Gordon Derber and Mrs. George Maye will present the program.

One of the most sincere and dramatic presentations of the Crucifixion is found in the oratorio, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," by Dubois. Because of its graphic portrayal of the events leading to Calvary and its deeply spiritual atmosphere, this composition has long been a universal favorite. In his choice of this selection for the musical portion of the Palm Sunday evening service to be held at Lawrence Memorial chapel, Dean Watterman of the Lawrence Conservatory was not unmindful of the splendid possibilities for choral expression offered by the work which will be sung by the Lawrence College choir of 85 voices.

Dubois Oratorio to Be Sung by College Choir at Services

Soloists for the service include Mrs. Kenneth Kloehn, soprano, Marshall Hulbert, baritone, and William Hogue, tenor. Mrs. Kloehn has appeared as soloist with the Schola Cantorum in its presentation of the "Messiah" and has been heard frequently in Appleton with various church choirs. Mr. Hulbert, who is instructor in voice at Lawrence Conservatory, has appeared as soloist numerous times in the past and has established a reputation as an oratorio singer of excellence. Mr. Hogue has appeared as tenor soloist with the Lawrence A Cappella Choir and has been heard frequently as church soloist in Appleton and Milwaukee.

Organist for the occasion will be LaVahn Maesch, director of music at the First Congregational church and professor of organ at Lawrence conservatory. Mr. Maesch's past performances at the Plautz Memorial organ have always been received enthusiastically and have added materially to the successful rendition of such oratorios as the "Messiah." Don Gerlach, senior student at the conservatory of music and organist at the Mount Olive Lutheran church, will again appear as

American Indian Lore

BY FHEBE JEWELL NICHOLS
(Mrs. A. F. Lookaround)

Because Indians did not keep written records, their history lives in the body of myth and legend which is peculiarly theirs. Strictly speaking, a myth is a story of the origin of which has long since been forgotten and which presumably relates historical events that are of such a nature as to explain some practice, belief, institution, or natural phenomenon. Myths are generally associated with religion and mythology and considered part of primitive religions. A legend may be defined as "any story coming down from the past, especially one popularly taken as historical" and built around some folkway, tradition, heroic character or happening.

The fact that Indian myths and legends must be regarded as explanatory and historical, and practically the Indians' only historical record, is often lost sight of in the face of their intrinsic charm and beauty. Then again, much is called myth and legend which is merely story, the fragment of the imagination of the narrator, and many 'collections' have been made, sold and read as legends which were the purest fiction.

There are, also, the legends which reflect various influences upon Indian life and culture, legends in which the old is confused and mixed with the new, and therefore of historical and explanatory value in the study of Indian life.

One cardinal element stands out as common to most of the religions of the world, old and new: that is that the Creator, whether He be called Allah, Brahma, Jehovah or the Great Spirit, gave to his people one who was to be his interpreter and this interpreter came of virgin birth. The Algonquian tribes had different words for this great cultural hero. Among the Menominees he was Mah(a)-nah-poosé, the White Rabbit. In addition to the authentic legends about this teacher, many have sprung up that are nothing more nor less than yarns. The modern Indian, skeptical about his indigenous lore, yet wishing not to appear ignorant of it will tell many a wild tale on the strength that it is about Mah(a)-nah-poosé. Therefore, the stories about this legendary hero are legion, but the few authentic stories remain today as explanatory of the Indians' religion and ethos.

The writer made a study of much of this lore under the tutelage of the late Chief Reginald Oshkosh and will quote him in this connection as follows: (Pages 13-14. Tales from An Indian Lodge):

"You must know, my friend, that Indian legends are very similar in many respects to the Bible stories. It is believed the missionaries told these stories and the Indian repeating them confused them with their legends. I will tell you an old legend of that sort. See what you can make of it. It is called Mah(a)-nah-poosé. The White Rabbit, and originated as did the Hiawatha stories in the belief in the existence of one sent by the Great Spirit to teach the way of a good life to others. "It was Nokomin, old grandmother, who found a small object lying in a nest of birch leaves and hemlock needles. Because the Great Spirit had come to her in her youth's fasting and had told her that some day He would send One to show the Indians the way to the Happy Hunting Ground, now she knew that this was the birth of that One, Mah(a)-nah-poosé, the White Rabbit. She nursed him and taught him, and he became strong and brave, understanding the language of all the birds and animals. Then there came a great water over all the world because everyone was wicked and would not do as Mah(a)-nah-poosé taught. A great whale lived in this water. And all at once it was so that animals were inside of the whale. Now Mah(a)-nah-poosé was aware of this, and he took his grandmother's copper knife and went to the water's edge and allowed himself to enter the mouth of the whale. Inside he beheld some of every animal and bird that had been in the world. "How come you here?" he asked the moose. "Oh, the moose replied, 'I went down to get a drink of water and a great current came along and here I am in this dark place.'"

"Up in front Mah(a)-nah-poosé could see the whale's great heart swinging back and forth like a pendulum. He desired to stab that heart for then all the animals and birds would be free. When he felt by the whale's movement that they were near land, he stabbed at the heart. The whale sagged and groaned. 'Oh! what a pain in my heart!' but he made a fresh start. Mah(a)-nah-poosé tried again and this time succeeded and with a great rushing of water fell forward. The buffalo and moose advised they were at last on land. They cut a hole in the ceiling and let out a bird to investigate. He ate a dead fish and never returned, so Mah(a)-nah-poosé cured him, and where as he had been white as snow he now became black as coal and was to be called a raven. Kah-kahkee. Next a dove was sent and brought back the news that they were on land and at the landing of the grandmother of Mah(a)-nah-poosé. He helped all the animals out of the whale. They found homes and he began to teach them how to live. Now they admired him very much and wished to be like him and the Great Spirit in stature. They prayed to the Great Spirit and He gave them the body of man. My ancestor was the White Bear, Owassee. He was the first of the animals to have the body of a man. All the other animals followed suit. (Note—This is the origin of the totem legend.) Soon there were animals to take the place of those who had become men. So now there were men and animals and birds on the earth. Mah(a)-nah-poosé went ev-

Blessed the Trail
"After many years he went ahead of them over westward where the sun sets and where the Happy Hunting Ground is. He broke the brush and blazed the trail to it. There was a slippery pole across the river between, and he showed them all how to cross. But some would not listen to him, nor follow him. So they slipped and almost drowned. And when they finally crossed they wandered and wandered because they couldn't see the lights of the Happy Hunting Grounds for a long time. But those who had listened and given heed, when they came to the river, they had no difficulty in crossing, and at once they could hear the music and behold the brightness. But after a while everyone came to where the drums were beating and to the welcoming fires of the Happy Hunting Ground."

Mah(a)-nah-poosé, or Nana-bushu, or Hiawatha, or The Great God Hare marches through the lore of the Woodland Indians in heroic exploit and cultural teaching. He discovers the wild rice, teaches the game of lacrosse, reprimands, advises, inspires. One cannot go far astray, indeed will find himself in harmony with these Indian attitudes, if he will get out Longfellow's Song of Hiawatha and read it over again.

Question. What is the meaning of the word squaw?
Answer. Webster gives this as meaning 'female or woman,' and among the Algonquian, the correlative of the word 'Sannup,' meaning 'man.' The Menominee Indians say, however, that this word originally meant 'my woman,' and therefore could never be used collectively as the word squaws is generally used.

2 Forest Junction Veteran Dairymen Honored at Banquet

Forest Junction — John Seybold and Frank Kloehn, veteran dairymen of this community, were among the more than 250 state Holstein breeders honored at the anniversary banquet given at Oconomowoc Wednesday evening in honor of those who had been breeding registered Holstein cattle for 25 or more years. The event was being held in connection with the annual state sale of registered Holsteins at Waukesha on Wednesday and at Watertown on Thursday, the Waukesha sale observing its silver anniversary this year.

According to records in the possession of Kloehn and Seybold, who conducted their earliest activities in this line on a partnership basis, their first purchase of a registered pure-bred Holstein was made in March, 1897. Accompanying them on Wednesday were Edwin Seybold, who now occupies the farm where his father started the purebred industry, and Alfred Ryken, local dairymen for the Calumet County Dairy Herd Improvement association. The group also attended the Waukesha sale Wednesday.

5 Service Clubs Meet Friday in Annual Olympics

Bunion Derby, Tug-of-War Among Events; Y. M. C. A. Sponsor

Featured by a 2-mile bunion derby—out to Wilson Junior High school and back—and three new events, the annual Inter-Club Olympics will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Y. M. C. A.

About 125 men in all, 25 from each of the five service clubs entered, will compete in the annual classic. Clubs competing for the title are Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Exchange.

Preliminaries in handball competition started this afternoon. The official Olympics open at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon, with bowling on the Y. M. C. A. alleys. The bunion derby will start at 5:15. Franklin C. Jesse, representing the Lions club, is the defending champion. Dr. John B. Hanna, Rotary standard bearer, was runner-up last year.

Following afternoon competition, the men will sit down together at a dinner in the "Y" cafeteria and continue their struggle after eating. The final contest of the night will be the tug-of-war listed for 8:15.

The schedule of events follows: Bowling, 4:30; billiards, ping-pong, shuffle board, badminton, dart ball, handball, bunion derby, 5:15; pool, 5:45; dinner at 6:30; contract bridge, Chinese checkers, basketball free throw, 7:30; tug-of-war, 8:15.

Roosevelt Lauds Progress Made by Negro Graduates

his special train arrived from Washington at 10 o'clock after a ride through a heavy rain storm. Several hundred townspeople saw him detain and get in a large open car with Governor Frank M. Dixon, Senator Hill, and Congressman Steagall. Dr. F. P. Patterson, president of Tuskegee institute, rode in a separate car.

The president told Tuskegee students he was proud of the institute's graduates because, throughout his extensive travels, he had come across many of them who had done great things for humanitarianism. He brought a laugh from the crowd when he said Representative Steagall, sitting with him, informed him no graduate of Tuskegee had "ever gone to the penitentiary to do a term."

The presidential party drove over roads into the hundreds of acres that comprise Tuskegee institute, which the late Booker T. Washington founded in 1881.

Welcomes President. Dr. Patterson opened the exercises on a knoll overlooking the student body, spread out on the greenery below.

"It is with a deep sense of humility and pleasure," he said, "that we welcome our beloved president to this institution."

He said the "warm friendship of the white south for this institution is an inspiration and has provided the most favorable situation possible for the development of a program of human service. Without the generosity of friends from the north, much that exists here today and much that has been accomplished would not have been possible."

Tuskegee "as a barometer of the fundamental progress of the Negro," he said, "has sought continuously to exert an influence that would keep the scales of interracial amity and justice in balance."

Leaving for Auburn and Poikla, Ala., enroute to Warm Springs, Ga., the president paused in the town of Tuskegee to greet hundreds of flag-waving school children.

WISCONSIN WEATHER. Fair tonight and Friday, becoming unsettled northwest portion Friday; not so cool northwest and north central portions, tonight, warmer east and south portions and colder extreme northwest portion Friday afternoon.

GENERAL WEATHER. A disturbance which was central over the southern Mississippi valley yesterday morning has moved northeastward and now overlies western Pennsylvania. This storm has caused general precipitation over most of the central and eastern portions of the country, with heavy rain falling over Kentucky and Tennessee and sections of the southern states. Heavy snow fell over southern Wisconsin and eastern Iowa, 4 inches at Milwaukee and 5 at Madison. This is followed by clearing weather from the plains states.

Temperatures are now rising over the northeastern states and over most of the western states, but it is colder over the southern Mississippi valley.

Generally fair weather is expected in this section during the next 24 hours, with rising temperature Friday.

County Trunk Roads In Poor Condition, John Ritger Reports

John Ritger, Outagamie county highway department patrol superintendent, reported today that all roads in the county, except those that are paved, are in poor condition for traveling. He cautioned motorists to remain off the unsurfaced roads as much as possible. County crews have been busy for the last week with repair work, but much still remains to be done, according to Ritger. The rapidly with which the frost has left the ground is responsible for the present conditions of the roads. Many town roads are impassible, Ritger reported.

Debate Municipal Acquisition Law At Joint Hearing

Bills Propose to Make Certificate of Convenience Unnecessary

Madison—(7)—Adequacy of the municipal acquisition law, under which localities may purchase privately owned utilities, was debated yesterday before a joint legislative committee.

The committee heard arguments on two bills introduced by Senator Rush (D), Neillsville, Assemblymen Vogel (D) Manitowoc, and Kelly (D), Hudson, which would make it unnecessary for municipalities to secure a certificate of convenience and necessity from the public service commission before inaugurating municipal power programs.

"There is no partisan politics in these bills," Rush said. "Practically every state except Wisconsin has authorized municipal competition and the business of utilities in these states has not improved."

Points to Manitowoc. Spokesmen for private utilities said the right of competition already existed; that the bills merely proposed to remove safeguards erected by public service commission regulations.

A. J. Whitcomb, Milwaukee, representing utility companies, said commission permission was necessary only for competition and that municipalities retained the right to acquire private concerns at their own discretion. He claimed that uncontrolled competition "is economically and physically unsound."

The record of the Manitowoc city plant is the best argument for municipal ownership," Vogel said. He claimed electric rates in that city under public ownership of utilities, decreased in 22 years from 12 cents per kilowatt hour to 2.5 cents.

John A. Becker, director of the Wisconsin Development authority said figures released by the federal power commission showed private rates were consistently higher than rates of public plants.

Challenges Figures. Robert M. Rieser, of the Madison Gas and Electric company challenged the significance of power commission's figures. He said inclusion of taxes in the calculation would change the picture.

Representatives of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers opposed the bills. They said their relations with private utilities were "satisfactory."

Members of the preferred stockholders' committee of the Wisconsin Power and Light company from Baraboo, Beloit, and Monroe warned that continuance of "adverse legislation" might further cut their dividends, which they said, now was only three-quarters paid.

Frank Zuffelt, Sheboygan, called the bills a "stepping stone to socialization of all industry."

Says Trade Talks Must be Continued

Berlin—(7)—Reichsbank President Walter Funk today told the bank's central committee that establishment of a new order in central Europe had increased rather than lessened the necessity of continuing interrupted trade talks with Britain and France.

Funk who also is minister of economics, declared that Germany was prepared to do business with the world—by her own methods.

He said the world was standing at the parting of the ways—either it must "surrender to the gold power of America or accept the new methods of young, strong, progressive nations"—meaning Germany and Italy.

Snow Shows Little Resistance to Sun

Warm Weather Reappears After Mild Snowfall Last Night

Appleton and vicinity was visited by a light snow last night which showed little resistance to the bright sun which shone intermittently from a cloudy sky today.

The snow presented a sharp contrast to the sun's warm weather of the last few days.

The mercury in the thermometer on the roof of the Post-Crescent building made its way up to 47 degrees at noon today while maximum and minimum temperatures for the 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning were 42 degrees at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 28 degrees at 10 o'clock last night, a drop of 14 degrees in a 6-hour period, according to records at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. Precipitation amounted to .12 of an inch.

Fair weather with warmer temperatures is predicted tonight and Friday.

Highest and lowest temperatures in the nation yesterday were at Jacksonville, Fla., with 86 degrees and Charles City, Iowa, with 16 degrees, according to an Associated Press report.

Four inches of snow fell at Milwaukee but Frank H. Coleman, government meteorologist, predicted most of it would disappear by tonight.

Man, 81, Hurt in Traffic Accident

Henry Warnecke, 81, 314 E. Randall street, received a broken leg and lacerations when he was in an accident involving a car driven by James Seeking, 23, 424 E. South River street, about 8:45 last night at the Wisconsin avenue and Morrison street intersection.

Warnecke was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital where his condition today was reported improved.

He was walking north on Morrison street and was crossing the intersection while Seeking was driving east on the avenue when the accident occurred, according to police.

Keller and Jolin Taking Reins of State Democrats

State Central Committee Sharply Divided Over Organization

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Members of a listless Democratic state central committee today had their faces turned hopefully toward the 1940 campaign, while they worried privately about a first class family row which threatens to disrupt the little strength which remains in the state organization after the discouragement of last November.

The clash of rival personalities, and a widening gulf between liberal and conservative elements in the party today had stalemated the organization which the party had been planning in order to rehabilitate itself after the disastrous 80,000 vote campaign which was put on last fall.

The position in which the state organization headed by Chairman William J. Carroll finds itself today may be shown by the meeting of the state central committee held in Madison this week. Fifteen out of 40 members attended. After a couple hours of bitter wrangling over organization policies, adjournment was forced when it was discovered that there was not a quorum present.

Differ On Methods

Principal reason for the schism between the younger and New Dealish leadership and the older heads of the state committee is a difference of opinion on organization methods. At least it is the only reason advanced publicly, although it is likely that other reasons, such as rivalry for places at the Democratic national convention next year and candidates for party and state offices, also fit into the picture.

Chairman Carroll and his chief assistant, William H. Shenners, have evolved a plan of reorganization for 1940 which will emphasize the control of the state committee. Under it the state group would solicit free memberships, and it would provide that any five members in a precinct could recommend to the state committee on patronage matters.

Dominating the current discussion within the Democratic organization is the blossoming of a new state organization led by Chairman Edward Curry of Milwaukee county, and Gustave Keller Jr., of Outagamie county, which reportedly has the support of leaders of the county groups in other populous counties.

The organization question was brought to the floor in a forthright statement by Gerald Jolin, new state central committee member from the Eighth congressional district. The Hortonville representative is one of Keller's workers in the Outagamie organization.

Speaking of the Keller-Curry organization, which has been called the "Inter-County Committee," Jolin informed Carroll that "what we have tried to do is to put some life in the state Democratic organization and to help you."

Apparently riled, Carroll demanded: "Are you setting up a new state organization?"

"No, we're helping the chairman of the state committee," replied Jolin, warning that the county chairmen of the important counties—representing more than half of the total Democratic vote, it was said—"can't be ignored or disregarded."

Carroll bluntly charged Jolin and his group with trying to usurp the functions of the state committee, and to put the state central committee members in "a position that they can't act. Let's put all our cards on the table," he challenged.

The state chairman insisted, in a milder tone, that he is ready to cooperate with all Democratic organizations in the state, but added that he can have no favorites.

2 Fined for Breaking Truck Traffic Laws

Harry Flanagan, Bear Creek, pleaded guilty of violating the seasonal weight restrictions and of carrying a load in excess of the limit of his truck license when he appeared before Judge Thomas H. Ryan yesterday afternoon. He was fined $5 and costs on each of the two counts.

Joseph Lehrer, Kaukauna, pleaded guilty of failure to have a trailer license and was fined $10 and costs.

Catlin Is Opposed To Investigations Of State Bureaus

Says He'll Have to be Shown Evidence to Warrant Inquiries

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Assemblyman Mark Catlin of Appleton, chairman of two house committees and assistant floorleader of the Republican majority in the Wisconsin assembly, has served notice on his colleagues that if they want legislative investigations of state departments they will have to convince him that there is sufficient evidence to warrant such inquiries.

"Let me serve advance notice that you will have to be prepared to show some constructive evidence of the 'have-nots' against the 'haves,'" said the Outagamie county solon, implying that dissatisfied office-seekers or former office-holders were instigating the resolutions for capital investigations. "That's the proposition in an egg-shell."

"If we want any basis for them, we're making ourselves a laughing stock. We'll only be giving people an opportunity to express personal grudges."

The legislature has already authorized a legislative committee to probe the activities of the state department of agriculture and markets, and this week received a favorable committee report on a proposed investigation of the state conservation department.

Ryan in municipal court yesterday and was fined $30 and costs with an alternative of 30 days in the county detention camp. Fleming, who had pleaded not guilty to the charge following his arrest by city police last week, indicated he would pay the fine.

Eminent Student Of Architecture To Lecture Here

Holy Sepulchre Topic of Dr. Conant's Talk Friday Evening

Dr. Kenneth J. Conant, associate professor of architecture at Harvard university, will deliver a public lecture on the Holy Sepulchre at 8 o'clock Friday evening in Peabody hall.

The address, illustrated with lantern slides, will deal with his research work at the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem last summer. The fine arts department of Lawrence college and the college chapter of Phi Beta Kappa are sponsoring the lecture. Dr. Conant received an honorary degree from Lawrence college in 1933.

Dr. Conant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Conant of DePere. In 1915 he won the Roberts Travelling Fellowship in Fine Arts at Harvard and was sent to Italy. There he became Associate Fellow in the American Academy at Rome and completed 75 pencil sketches which were displayed at the Fogg Museum of Art, Harvard, the first time a student's work was so honored.

He joined the A. E. F. in 1917, receiving wounds in the second battle of the Marne that kept him hospitalized for 10 months. Returning to Harvard, he was made assistant professor in 1923, receiving his Ph. D. degree and life membership in the American Institute of Architects two years later.

Dr. Conant was sent by the Carnegie Institute to make restoration drawings of the Maya ruins at Chichen, Itza, and commissioned by the National Geographic society to sketch Indian pueblos and cliff dwellings in Arizona. In the following year he started his research at the Abbey church in Cluny, France, for the Guendheim Foundation. Harvard made him an associate professor in 1930. He has been elected to the French National Archaeological society and is a research fellow of the Medieval Academy of America and the Archaeological academy of Dijon, France.

32 Exhibitors to Display Wares in Third Home Show

Space for Booths Selling Rapidly, Committee Reports

Neenah — Although the committee in charge of the Kiwanis club's third annual Twin City Home show which will be held in the S. A. Cook Armory Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, April 13, 14 and 15, doesn't expect to meet the demand for booth space, there are still booths for sale, it was announced at a club meeting Wednesday noon at the Valley Inn.

Thirty-two exhibitors already have purchased booths, and sale of space will be completed with several others within a few days.

Seven industrial concerns have purchased booth space on the second floor, and because others are expected to request space, it is expected that several of the industrial booths will have to be shifted to the main floor. The industrial concerns which have purchased space are Neenah-Menasha Washing Machine company, Banta Publishing company, Neenah Papers company, Kimberly-Clark corporation, Gilbert Paper company, Marathon Paper company and Fox Valley Oil company.

Other Exhibitors

Two other exhibitors purchased booths today on the main floor. They are Ed Schultz Contracting company and National Jewelers Mutual association.

Other exhibitors are Witte Electric, Wiekert Lumber, Al Mathieu, A. E. Schultz, Home Fuel, Post-Crescent, E. R. A. Economy Drug, Twin City Monument, Valley Sheet Metal, Wilson Music, Valley Plumbing, Nixon Fuel, Kiel-Werner, Drucks Electric, Neenah Hardware, Schrage Sheet Metal, Jeske Lumber and Fuel, Langstadt Meyer Electric, Jandrey's, Wisconsin Michigan Power, and Kraemer Floral.

The committee in charge of the show is collecting prizes for the annual 3-day event. The prizes which will be offered on the three nights of the show will be similar to those given away last year. Richard Bell who is in charge of the entertainment program is mapping out productions. There will be continuous entertainment on all three nights.

Neenah Jaces to Honor Cagers at Banquet Tonight

Major J. W. Griffith to Talk at Valley Inn

Neenah—Coach Ole Jorgensen and his championship Neenah High school basketball team will be honored at a public banquet at 6:30 tonight at the Valley Inn.

The newly organized Neenah Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the banquet. It is one of the club's first major projects. Major J. W. Griffith, Chicago, commissioner of athletics for the Big Ten conference, will be the guest speaker, and the guests of honor will be the coach, 10 players and two senior managers.

The players are Captain Dan Schmidt, Captain-elect Harlan Hesselman, Warren Kettering, Harold Hackstock, Leo Peterson, Buxton Kettering, Al Muench, William Blank, Kenneth Krueger and Ed Winkelman. The managers are Dean Sword and Clarence Staffeld.

A large number of Neenah persons are expected to attend the banquet to hear Griffith. The major is former Big Ten coach and presently is general arbiter on problems concerning the conference. He is editor of an athletic journal, past president of the Rotary club of Chicago, twice president of the National Collegiate A. A., and a member of the 1936 American Olympic committee.

First Neenah Address Griffith will make his first address in Neenah tonight although he has talked in Appleton and Oshkosh. Coach Jorgensen will give a summary of one of Neenah's most highly successful basketball seasons, and the players and managers will be introduced.

Neenah this season set an enviable cage record. After winning a share of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference championship, the Rockets topped championship in the Class B district and regional tournaments and then took second place in the state tournament at Madison.

The Jaces committee in charge of the banquet is composed of Elmer Radtke, Norman Greenwood, Paul Stacker, Edwin Tyrner, David Jones and Stephen Sommers.

Farmers to Outline Corn Borer Campaign

Neenah—Many Winnebago county farmers are expected to attend the three meetings at which a campaign against infestation of the corn borer and grasshoppers into the county will be mapped out. The meetings will be held Friday, the first at 9:30 in the morning at the Nekimi town hall, the second at 1:30 in the afternoon at the Winnebago village hall, and the third at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Winchester garage, J. A. Piller, Madison, of the state entomology department, will conduct the meetings.

Drunken Driver Is Fined at Menasha

Oshkosh Man Arrested After Traffic Crash At Intersection

Menasha—Sylvester Schneider, 25, 902 1/2 Main street, Oshkosh, was fined $50 and costs by Justice of the Peace Ray J. Fink when he pleaded guilty this morning of drunken driving. He was involved in an accident at 11:30 Wednesday night.

Schneider was arrested by Menasha police on Water street after he left the scene of an accident at the intersection of Main and Racine streets, according to Police Chief Alex Slomski. Schneider was driving a truck south on Racine street and E. W. Stern, 839 E. Franklin street, Appleton, was driving east on Main street when the accident occurred.

Schneider made a wide turn to the left at the intersection of the two streets and hit the rear left fender of the Stern car. He did not stop after the accident and was picked up by Menasha police in the squad car, the chief said. He was held in the city jail until his arraignment this morning. Schneider was given time to pay his fine, according to Chief Slomski.

Manitowoc Chapter Attends Meeting of Twin City DeMolay

Menasha—More than 30 members and advisory members of Edgar Nash chapter, Order of DeMolay, from Manitowoc were guests of Winnebago chapter Wednesday night at the Neenah Masonic temple. The Manitowoc chapter put on an impressive initiatory degree for nine new candidates.

After the degree work the band of Edgar Nash chapter, consisting of about 30 members, played several selections. A general get-together and social hour followed. The Neenah-Menasha chapter of DeMolay will exemplify the DeMolay degree for Edgar Nash chapter on April 24. The Manitowoc chapter is one of the largest in the state with an average attendance of 62.

According to reports received by Winnebago chapter, the basketball team will meet Superior at 8 o'clock next Thursday in the DeMolay state tournament at Milwaukee. The chapter has shown improvement in three recent practices and will hold several more before the tournament. The team is rated as one of the favorites in the state tourney.

The meeting next week will be held at the Menasha Masonic temple.

Paving of Avenue to Begin Next Thursday

Neenah—Construction on the paving of E. Wisconsin avenue from the Chicago and North Western tracks to the shore of Lake Winnebago will get underway next Thursday, City Engineer A. G. Pruska reported today.

The Koepke Construction company, Appleton, is the contractor for the job. It is expected that half of the street will be paved at one time and that work will begin near Shattuck park, the west end. Construction on the paving of E. Canal and Walnut streets will get underway later.

Washington School Pupils Conclude Social Studies, Science Unit With Program

Neenah—Two demonstrations on the study of social studies and science units were given Wednesday afternoon by Miss Mary Wingren's fourth grade group and Miss Lester Feller's fifth grade group at Washington school.

The fourth grade group's demonstration was an outgrowth of the basic ideas learned during the regular class periods. The unit was called "How the location, topography and climatic conditions of Egypt have affected the activities of the people, both during ancient and modern times."

The demonstration was in the form of a movie made by the pupils. The pictures were drawn by the students, and as each picture was shown it was explained by the child who drew the sketch. There was an integration of English expression, art, and music with the social studies unit. The demonstration opened with two songs sung by the group, "A Trip to Egypt" and "The Desert."

Pupils Who Took Part

The pupils who participated and the topic of their talks were: "Location of Africa" by Kathryn Yorkson, "Location of Egypt and the Nile River" by Joan Stoegebaur, "Egyptian Flag" by Donald Swichtenberg, "Pyramids" by Dicky

Schultz, "Inside of a Pyramid" by Kathleen Worzalla, "Irrigation" by Bill Marquardt, "The Sphinx" by Marguerite Schneider, "Plowing" by Robert Vecser, "The Shadoff" by James Lenz, "Egyptian Art" and "The Camel" by Mary Lea Funke, "Dates" by George Picha, "Old Method of Moving an Object" and "A Sand Storm" by Ruth Young.

Dicky Schultz and Donald Swichtenberg rolled the pictures on the movie frame.

Science Movie

The science movie produced by Miss Feller's fifth grade group was a correlation of a science unit, art work and English expression, the unit dealing with the adaptation of animals to their environment, including problems of migration, hibernation, protective color and metamorphosis.

The talks were outlined, planned and organized by the children in English work, and the large movie pictures had been planned and painted on a roll of brown wrapping paper, each picture illustrating the talk. The unit studied was "How animals adapt and make suitable adjustments to their environmental conditions in order to live."

The children who participated and their talks were: "Bird Routes" by George Spoo, "How Glaciers Changed the Climate" by Charles Volk, "Reasons for Migration" by Donald Krallein, "Nesting of Birds" by James Lansing, "Dangers of Migrating Birds" by Howard Jape, "Monarch Butterfly Migrating" by Oscar Olson, "Migration of the Salmon" by Sam Cannon, "El Migrating" by Marvel Smith.

"Migration of the Polar Bear" by Marvin Pagel, "Migration of Man" by Tom Rosenow, "Problems of Migration" by Robert Jelinski, "Leaf Butterfly" by Peter Rasmussen, "The Squirrel's Protective Color" by Armin Gerhardt, "Tree Frog's Protective Color" by Robert Klitzke, "Walking Stick" by Leon Johnson, "Walking Leaf" by Dorothy Guthrie.

"Problem of Protective Coloration" by Larry Neff, "Eggs of the Frog" by John Nicholas, " Tadpoles" by Sidney Ward, "The Frog" by Charles Bentzen, "The Life of a Salamander" by Teddy Jengenber, "Egg Stage of the Butterfly" by Deloris Bork, "Caterpillar Stage" by Barbara Strey, "Pupa Stage" by Wanda Lueck, "Adult Butterfly" by Patty Kuecher, "Amphibians" by Deloris Yeager, "Incomplete Metamorphosis" by Charles Zimmerman.

Sidney Ward was chairman of this unit, and Armin Gerhardt and John Nicholas rolled the movies.

Survey of Hazards at Intersection Underway

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

The state highway commission is making a survey of the type and frequency of traffic hazards at the intersection of Highway 41 and Highway 150 in the town of Neenah, D. F. Culbertson, state division highway engineer, has informed Arthur Hedke, county clerk. The county board has asked the state highway commission to install stop-and-go traffic lights at the intersection.

Fish, Game Worth Millions to State Annually--Catlin

New Conservation Commissioner Talks to Neenah Kiwanis Club

Neenah—Disregarding the value of fish and game to the health and happiness of many Wisconsin people, their economic value to the state is well over $10,000,000 annually, Mark Catlin, Sr., Appleton, who recently was appointed to the state conservation commission, told the Kiwanis club in a talk at a noon meeting Wednesday at the Valley Inn.

"We shouldn't look at fish and game in the sense of a catch or kill," the tall, bushy-eyebrowed conservationist said, "but we should consider it from its greatest benefit, the health and happiness derived from wandering in the forests and along lakes."

Commercial fishing on Lake Michigan, it is estimated, nets the state more than $3,000,000 a year, 18,000,000 pounds of fish, including lake trout, whitefish, herring and chubs, being taken out of the lake each year. "Regulation of commercial fishing is important because thousands of families are dependent upon it," the attorney said.

Inland lakes in Wisconsin cover a million acres, and it is estimated that they produce 18 pounds of fish per acre or 18,000,000 pounds total. "This fish is a substitute for something else which would be on the table, and valuing it in dollars and cents, it would amount to about $2,000,000."

Lists Year's Kill

Requesting the Kiwanians to mentally calculate the cost per pound for the following game, the conservationist listed the kill last year: 30,000 deer, 1,250,000 ducks, 300,000 pheasants, 300,000 partridge, grouse and prairie chickens, 1,200,000 cotton tail rabbits, 598,932 jack rabbits, 512,233 squirrels, 3,979 geese, 273 bear, 3,076 woodcocks, 537 rails, 33,836 jacksnipes.

The fur catch alone in Wisconsin last year amounted to about $1,500,000. At Oshkosh, a flourishing industry drawing $500,000 a year has been conducted for years. The industry is catching and selling frogs for their legs.

Catlin discussed the highly controversial question on the program for the eradication of carp from inland lakes. He pointed out that carp has developed into a $6,000,000 industry in Wisconsin, and while the sportsmen want them eradicated entirely, the commission must consider the economic value.

"There is one thing with Wisconsin's conservation program which I consider as wrong," the sportsman told the Kiwanians. "State fish hatcheries are raising and planting 10,000,000 brook trout a year, but they aren't getting results, and I don't believe more than 500,000 are caught a year."

"I contend that they shouldn't continue in the face of lack of results. They should raise about a million trout, letting them grow in the hatcheries until they are three inches long and then release them in spring before the flies come out. "Hatcheries could cut down on expenses. The thing that is killing trout in Wisconsin is the intense heat. Not many years ago when Wisconsin was covered with trees, the climate was cool, and now the temperature is that of the plain states. Trout die in warm water."

Academy Choir to Sing at Menasha

Palm Sunday Program Will be Presented at Trinity Church

Menasha—A sacred concert by the Winnebago Lutheran Academy choir, Fond du Lac, will be presented at 7:45 Palm Sunday evening, April 2, in Trinity Lutheran church. It was announced today by the Rev. Paul G. Bergmann, pastor.

The 45 voice choir's program for Sunday evening has been arranged as a service with the prayer opening the concert. "Lord, Lead us Still" by Brahms. "The Coming of the Lord" section will include "Blessed is He" by Coerne, "Lo, to Us a Child is Born" by Liebold and "Glory Be to God" by Rachmaninoff.

Five selections will be presented in the "Christian Life" section. They will be "Thou Art My Salvation" by Hauptmann, "Salvation Unto Us Come" by Brahms, "Choral, Hosiery My Sole to Watch and Pray" by Bach, the Kyrie by Kranz and "Lord, I Cry to Thee" by Kaliminkoff.

The "Praise and Thanksgiving" group will include "Jesus, meine Freud und Wonne" arranged by Dickinson and "O Praise the Lord of Heaven" by Arensky. "Lord Jesus Who Dost Love Me" for eight voices, arranged by Lundquist and "Benediction" by Lutkin will complete the concert group.

No admission charge will be made, but silver offering will be taken. Members of the choir will be accompanied by night guests of members of Trinity Lutheran church.

Seniors Will Select Graduation Apparel

Neenah—The Neenah High school senior class at a meeting this afternoon will select caps and gowns which they will wear during graduation exercises. They also will choose announcement cards. Other plans for graduation exercises will be discussed.

POSTPONE MEETING

Neenah—The meeting of the Neenah Boat club which was scheduled Wednesday evening has been postponed until Thursday, March 30. It will be held at the city hall auditorium. Election of officers will be held and plans for the summer racing season will be mapped out.

Honkamp Tells Lions About Hidden Taxes

Menasha—Hidden taxes, which account for 35 per cent of all taxes collected and which come mainly from low wage earners, were discussed by Elmer R. Honkamp, Appleton attorney, at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Menasha Lions club. The speaker pointed out that the purchaser of a loaf of bread pays 21 different taxes while cigarettes would sell for 6 cents a pack except for the hidden taxes. Of total earnings, 30 per cent is diverted to taxes, the speaker said. In Winnebago county alone there are 69 tax agencies.

Twin City Deaths

WILLIAM NOEL
Menasha—William Noel of Sheboygan, a brother of Clarence Noel, 31 Main street, died Wednesday at Sheboygan. Mr. Noel was a railroad employe and had acquaintances in Menasha. The body will be held at Sheboygan until Friday but funeral services will be held in Menominee, Mich.

MISS CATHERINE LIEBL
Menasha — Miss Catherine Liebl, 63, 600 Third street, died unexpectedly Wednesday at Oak Park, Ill., where she had been visiting. C. W. Laemmrich went to Oak Park Wednesday afternoon to bring the body back to Menasha.

Miss Liebl was born April 13, 1875, in Menasha. With the exception of 20 years in Chicago, she was a resident of Menasha her entire life. She was a member of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, St. Mary court; the Third Order of St. Francis and of the St. Anne society of St. Mary parish.

Survivors are two brothers, Joseph A. Liebl, Lions, Ill., and Jacob Liebl, Menasha, and one sister, Mrs. John A. Bayer, Menasha.

PASTOR CONVALESCING
Menasha—The Rev. W. P. Mortell, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church, who submitted to an operation at the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., Tuesday, is reported to be convalescing. It is expected that Father Mortell who has been at the clinic for about three weeks, will return home sometime after Easter.

MIDWEEK SERVICES
Neenah—The First Evangelical church will hold midweek lenter services at 7:30 this evening with the Rev. Carl F. Zietlow, pastor, discussing "The New Freedom."

Oliver Eckrich, 639 First street, who has been confined to St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton, has returned to his home. Mr. Eckrich is much improved.

Kuehl's Grocery, News-Times Cagers Win Final Games

Hewitt Machines, Sawyer Papers Lose as League Closes

Neenah—The Neenah basketball league season closed last night with Kuehl's Grocery walloping Hewitt Machines, 39 to 20, and News-Times submerging Sawyer Papers, 31 to 17, in the final two games at Roosevelt school gymnasium.

In a non-league game last night, News-Times defeated Police, 41 to 37.

Kuehl's led Hewitt's throughout the contest, holding a 10 to 4 lead at the end of the first quarter. They held a 29 to 12 advantage at the end of the third period.

Barnes starred for the Grocery five, sinking 15 points on five baskets and six field goals. Solomon accounted for 11 points and Jorgensen got six. Rabideau was high scorer for the Hewitts, counting six points on three baskets.

News-Times had little difficulty walloping the Sawyer Papers. They blanked the Papers, 31 to 17, during the first quarter and held a 13 to 3 lead at the half. They increased the margin to 21 to 9 at the end of the third quarter.

D. Schmidt paced the News-Times with 12 points on 6 baskets, while H. Bunker was high scorer for the Sawyers with six points on three buckets.

Open House Is Planned for Silver Wedding Anniversary

Neenah—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miller, 230 Second street, will entertain at an open house Saturday afternoon and evening, April 1, in observance of their silver wedding anniversary. The Miller's have been residents of Neenah for 25 years. Mrs. Miller lived in Appleton prior to her marriage.

Mrs. Louis Schmidt was named chairman for a musical tea April 26 and Mrs. Ira Clough was chosen to head the May picnic committee at the Friendly Folks club business meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Twin City Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Frank Sadowsky, Mrs. J. B. Heddon and Mrs. Rudolph Angermeyer were hostesses during the social hour which followed. The April 22 meeting will feature current events by members of the club.

Mrs. J. D. Schmelein, E. Forest avenue, will entertain at a dessert bridge at 1:30 Saturday afternoon for past presidents of the C. B. Clark circle, Ladies of the G. A. R. A business meeting will follow.

Theda Clark Hospital alumnae will hold its monthly meeting with Miss Helen Hartsworm, 531 N. Garfield place, Appleton, at 8 o'clock Monday evening, April 3. Hostesses will be Miss Hartsworm, Miss Marcella Heinke, Miss Ruth Herriek, Miss Virginia Hoffman, Miss Tracy Howman and Mrs. Theodore Holwinski.

Mrs. W. A. Mathes presented the study on George Meredith and Henry James at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Sarah Doty Study club in the club room of Neenah Public library. Plans for study of drama next year were discussed by club members during the business session.

Mrs. F. J. Danker and Mrs. William Stacker won bridge honors at the Neenah Eastern Star Bridge club dessert bridge party Wednesday afternoon in Masonic temple. Hostesses were Mrs. R. L. Calhoun and Mrs. Leo Boehm.

The winning group of the Pythian Sisters, Mrs. Cleo Cannon, captain, will be guests at a 6:30 supper party Friday evening in Castle hall as the losing group in the attendance contest entertains. Mrs. J. D. Schmelein was captain of the losers. A social hour will follow the supper.

Fifteen members and six guests attended the Ladies society of First Evangelical church meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Dan

Huck and Redskin Cagers in Finals

Will Clash Tonight for Title in Boys' Amateur Tournament

Menasha — The Hub Huck cagers and the Menasha Redskins will clash in the championship game of the boys' amateur tournament tonight in the St. John school gymnasium. Play will start at 8 o'clock tonight with the fifth ward Pirates playing the Blue Devils and the Menasha Merchants opposing the Menasha Vikings at 7 o'clock in consolation round games.

The winners of the two games will play at 8 o'clock in the consolation finals. The St. John All-Stars will play the Broadway Tavern team at 8 o'clock for third place with the championship game scheduled for 10 o'clock.

Broadway Tavern defeated the Menasha Merchants in a first round game, 22 to 21, Wednesday night in the tournament. The Merchants were unable to connect from the free throw line. Griesbach and Johnson led the Broadway team with seven points while Skaly counted six points and Novak made five free throws for the Merchants.

The Redskins swamped the Vikings by a 30 to 11 count, leading all the way. R. Novakowski counted eight points for the Vikings while E. Latondress scored 10 points, D. Younger nine and G. Block eight for the Redskins.

The Hub Hucks scored a 27 to 12 victory over the St. John All-Star team, upsetting the tourney favorites. E. Block counted nine points and G. Goesser added six for the Hucks.

The Redskins scored a 38 to 34 overtime victory over the Broadway Tavern in a second round game last night. D. Younger and E. Latondress scored 11 points each for the winners. Griesbach counted 12 points for the Tavern team while Ciske had four baskets.

Man Fined When 'Blink' Is Found to be a Wink

Cambridge, Mass. — (AP) — Robert Townsend, 62, said it was a blink, but a 17-year-old girl said it was a wink.

Judge Arthur P. Stone agreed with the girl and fined Townsend $20 for winking at the girl, despite the man's contention an eye affliction caused him to blink uncontrollably.

Movieland Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—I'm taking time out for an in-the-sleeve chuckle this morning—one that has been generating for about five years. It's been that long since Hollywood had a chance to capitalize on one of the best star prospects that ever stepped before a camera—a beautiful young singer named Kitty Carlisle.

Fidler Hollywood muffed the opportunity and for a particularly astute reason if the argument advanced by the one studio big-shot who discussed her with me then can be taken as criterion. He claimed that Kitty was "too different"—that she was hard to cast. In short, she couldn't be squeezed into the Hollywood mould.

The other day she came back from New York, where she has proved her ability on the stage and I hear that more than one studio would be very happy to talk contract with Miss Carlisle. Such talk won't be cheap now, for Kitty has ARRIVED.

And here's the chuckle: that very quality of individuality which was regarded as a handicap five years ago, is hailed as a priceless asset. I have heard two or three studio executives discuss her and each one—after mentioning the fact that Kitty was recently picked as America's best-dressed woman (an honor which always creates a tremendous impression in this clothes-conscious town)—has hinged his enthusiasm on the statement that "she's unique; she's DIFFERENT!" Can it be that the cars of this business at last realize that individuality is really appreciated in America—one of the few centuries which still tolerates it?

Yankee chic characterizes Movie Actress Ann Sheridan who wears a crisp yellow taffeta with an accent of strapless styling. Crystal beads trim the slim bodice.

stepped a beaming young man to offer his card. It read: "Dr. Harold Kelly, Licensed Chiropractor."

IDOL CHATTER: Wallace Beery's last name rhymes with cheery—but any of his co-workers will tell you "tain't always so. Peas in a pod: Donald Briggs and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. A chat with Sidney Toler is always themed by one of two topics—the vacation trip he's just made, or the vacation trip he's planning to make. Hollywood incongruities: Louis Hayward, in the silk and satin of a seventeenth century France, tuning in a swing program on his dressing room radio. You'd never suspect it to look at him, but Ned Sparks is a comic page addit.

Henry Fonda is fonda almost everything excepting fan magazine writers—and them he HATES! To bad the camera misses your favorite glamour gal's appealing sigh of relief—as she dons her bedroom slippers between scenes. One-word-description of Ann Sheridan: sex-static. Charlie McCarthy has a more definite future than most actors—their successes are in the laps of the gods. His is in the lap of Edgar Bergen. Richard Dix is a key-hider.

The manufacture of that dimple producing device could do worse than bribe Richard Greene to endorse it. Wish Grace Moore would tell me how she mixes that cheese and sherry spread—it's a melody as delightful as any sheever sang. All work and no play made Jack Kubelsky Jack Benny. Tip to Myrna Loy fans: if you want to make a hit with the little lady, talk about landscape gardening, not about acting. Beals me why the studios keep on signing society debs—too many of them have turned out to be de-bits.

Perhaps you read about Bob Burns' wired protest against the killing of nine ancient, worn-out army mules at Fort Dix, New Jersey. At any rate, you were intended to read it, for while no one knows him can doubt Bob's fundamental sincerity, the tie-up between that appeal and his current picture, "I'm From Missouri," was too obvious to be entirely overlooked. Here's the pay-off: the commandant at Fort Dix proved a most gracious and anxious-to-oblige man. He wired Bob immediately—said that since Mr. Burns felt that way, he would undoubtedly be glad to care for the mules. And, forthwith, loaded them in a stock car and shipped them. C.O.D. to Hollywood. Bob's not complaining—but if you do know anyone who could use a somewhat antique mule, I think he's appreciate a postcard.

Now it's David Niven who's making the not very original observation that this is "an amazing town." This morning for a scene in "Little Mother," he had to be tackled and man-handled by Frank Albertson and two hefty extras. After the fourth take, the director asked him if he thought he could do the scene again. "Not unless there's a chiropractor in the house," growled Dave as he struggled to his feet. And, instantly, from the extra mob

PAINS IN SHOULDERS HURT LIKE TOOTH-ACHE

MR. GEORGE DE VERE

Mr. George De Vere, 603 No. 3rd St., Rockford, Ill., praises RUX and wants to tell others what relief he has found from its use.

RHEUMATIC PAINS IN SHOULDERS

He writes, "I have suffered from Rheumatic-like Pains in my shoulders. The pain would hurt at times like a tooth-ache, and often kept me awake at night. Recently, I saw an ad in your paper about RUX and what others said about it. I decided to try RUX."

GLAD HE TRIED RUX!

"I found that RUX would help relieve the pain attacks, and now I sleep better after taking RUX. I am glad to recommend RUX to others."

OTHERS PRAISE RUX!

Thousands have given RUX a thorough trial—and then have taken the trouble to express their joy to others. We go! Then others find that RUX brings them Pain Relief that allows them to work.

RUX ACTS IN FOUR WAYS

RUX acts from the inside, in four powerful ways. First, by reducing inflammation which causes severe agony, second, by helping the body flush out its waste and by its diuretic effect, third, by helping to keep the blood as pure as its original effect, and fourth, by soothing and relaxing the muscles. These four actions are so powerful that your muscles are relaxed and can be exercised to improve the blood circulation. FOUR IMPORTANT STEPS For Rheumatic Pain Relief.

MAKE THE RUX TEST TODAY!

RUX is only $1.50 for a full ounce bottle—an inexpensive price for the relief RUX can offer. Be sure to try RUX for your own comfort and for your family's sake. TODAY Ask for RUX at the Ford-Hepburn Drug Store.

Recreation Called Antidote for Swift

Pace of Modern Age

Indianapolis — Antidotes for the swift, modern age of labor-saving devices are physical and health education and recreation. Dr. Margaret Bell of the University of Michigan said at the 26th annual convention of the Midwest Physical Education association here yesterday.

Dr. Bell, president-elect of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, asserted that "without recreation and knowledge of physical and health education, the nation would be headed for the development of a vast number of neurotics."

Leading gymnasts from Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin and West Virginia are attending the convention.

Warren Kettering of Neenah Picked on All-Star Class B Team; 2 Rockets on 2nd Five

BY DAVE ROWE

MADISON — (P) — All tournament teams in each of the three divisions of the 24th annual WIAA high school basketball meet at Madison were picked for the Associated Press today by coaches.

The four day meet, which ended Friday, was studied with outstanding men, led by Johnny Kolz, sensational Rhinelander center, who topped individual scoring column of all divisions with 64 points. It was the second straight year he won the honors. His last year's total was 43 and he placed second in 1937.

First and second teams in each division follow:

MADISON — (P) — All tournament teams in each of the three divisions of the 24th annual WIAA high school basketball meet at Madison were picked for the Associated Press today by coaches.

The four day meet, which ended Friday, was studied with outstanding men, led by Johnny Kolz, sensational Rhinelander center, who topped individual scoring column of all divisions with 64 points. It was the second straight year he won the honors. His last year's total was 43 and he placed second in 1937.

First and second teams in each division follow:

CLASS A First Team

Lenheiser, Rhinelander

Fernandez, Antigo

Kolz, Rhinelander

Drivas, Rhinelander

Bronson, Shorewood

Second Team

Hirsch, Wausau

Schles, Stevens Point

Pedgine, Shorewood

Fischer, Wauwatosa

Terzinski, Rhinelander

CLASS C First Team

Nyhaugen, Stoughton

Grabow, Watertown

Freitag, Stoughton

W. Kettering, Neenah

Stupka, Watertown

Second Team

Stoffel, Watertown

Kuenzi, Watertown

Daniels, Neenah

Ely, Altoona

Driscoll, Port Edwards

Second Team

Gleason, Port Edwards

Isaacs, Independence

Mand, Oregon

Torikko, Ondesagong

H. Kietly, Altoona

Kolz and Ray Lenheiser, both of Rhinelander, the Class A champions, received unanimous recognition on the first five. Lenheiser, besides setting the stage for Kolz scoring efforts, tied for second in top form throughout the tourney. Kolz shattered the all time tourney scoring mark by counting 28 points in the first game against Wauwatosa.

Penny Drivas, Hodag guard, carried the brunt of the champion's defensive power. He often had three men clamoring around the basket while his mates were upcourt attempting to score. However, he managed somehow to stem the attack.

Paired with Drivas as Paul Bronson, Shorewood's best. His accurate shooting and sturdy defensive play were apparent in the Rhinelander game, when he "stopped" Kolz with 10 points and in turn collected nine.

Hal Fermanich, forward on Antigo's consolation champions, a constant scoring threat and fine defensive player, was a main factor in the Antigo show.

Bob Fischer, Wauwatosa guard, gave Bronson a run for a guard post but after final tabulations the Shorewood ace won out.

Bob Nyhaugen, Stoughton forward, was the only unanimous choice in Class B. He captured top honors by scoring 28 points in his division although he was ailing throughout the class.

Henry Freitag, Nyhaugen's teammate and center, counted 24 points in the first game of the tourney against Delavan and won runner-up position. His rebound play and all around floor work were tops.

Harris Grabow, captain and forward of Watertown's undefeated B titlists, did good work both offensively and defensively.

Five Home Runs Help White Sox Upset Cubs, 8-4

Grove Works for Red Sox And Gives One Hit In Three Frames

LOS ANGELES, CALIF. — (P) — Chicago's White Sox crushed five home runs yesterday to defeat the Chicago Cubs 8 to 4 and carry off the California section of their exhibition baseball series, three games to two.

Home runs drove in every Sox run. Marv Owen connected with two on base, Eric McNair with one, and Luke Appling, Ken Sylvestri and Gerald Walker with the bases empty.

All Cub tallies came in the eighth inning. Joe Maly doubling twice and then scoring ahead of Phil Carravetta's homer.

St. John Boxers to Invade Oshkosh Ring

Little Chute — St. John high boxers will trek to Oshkosh tonight for a return bout with the Oshkosh high mitt slingers. Earlier in the season the locals were defeated 7 to 5.

According to weights sent to the local director, Hinkens will meet Fuller in the 98-pound class; Pudgy Lamers meets King in the 100-pound class; Jimmy Lenz classes with Behlman in the 113-pound class; Whitely Versteegen trades punches with Ader in the 125-pound weight and will try to shade off the losing jinx. Irish McCabe again will meet Winslow. Kenny Hurst meets either Smith or Marsh in the 121-pound class; Cletus Hurst will get a chance to meet Oaks, who scored a technical K.O. at the local arena over Bob Jansen. Sam Vandenberg will meet either Tony Masko or Schneider in the 130-pound class; Quint De Bruin and Neubauer meet for the second time; Bob St. Aubin will replace Gordy Hermesen in the 145-pound class to meet Rueschel; Tony Simons will get a crack at Collier in the 150-pound weight; Bomber Mollen and Bernard are paired in the 142-pound class; while Jim Hermesen may meet McDonald in the 165-pound class.

The card will be refereed by George Christoph of Neenah.

Marion Boxers Defeat Kimberly By 7 to 4 Score

Papermakers Lack Experience; Lose Several Goes by Forfeit.

MARION — Marion High school boxers scored their second win of the 1939 season when they defeated an inexperienced Kimberly high squad by a count of 7-4 in the local gym Tuesday night. The local sluggers won four fights on forfeits, two by decisions, and one by a technical knockout.

In the opening fight of the 11 bout card, Julius Dapin and Gerald Dieck, both of Marion, battled to a draw in an exhibition in the 92-pound class. Marion won the fight in this weight division when Kimberly had no representative.

The locals also won the fight in the 100-pound class on a forfeit. The visitors' fighter was overweight. However, in an exhibition bout on which a decision was rendered, Stanley Miller, Marion 100-pounder, won a three round decision over Kimberly's Toby VanderVeld.

In the next fight, at 108 pounds, Clitus Gaffney of Kimberly scored a technical knockout over John Pfeiler. Gaffney's rushing style bothered the Marion youth and the referee stopped the scrap in the second round when it became one-sided.

Francis Pettis, stocky Marion 117-pound fighter, won a 3-round decision over Lyle Langenburg in the following fight. It was another which the invaders lost when their fighter was overweight.

Glaser Wins for Kimberly
Kimberly won the scrap in the 124-pound division when Duane Glaser won a decision from Marion's Dean Arndt. Glaser scored the cleaner punches.

The second knockout of the evening was scored in the following fight when Frank Meyer of Marion stopped Harold Duprane in the second round. Norman Drager then lost a close decision to Robert La Berge of Kimberly in the 140-pound class.

Quentin Hoffman scored another Marion win in the next bout when he stopped John Gaffney of Kimberly in the second round. Marion had previously been given the bout on a forfeit. Hoffman had no trouble solving his opponent's style and was far ahead at the time the one-sided fight was halted.

Tom Rogers, Marion's 156-pound representative, gave John Van Cruyk a beating. Rogers held the upper hand throughout and had his left-handed opponent bleeding badly at the end of the third round. In the 165-pound class, Roy Elandt of Marion took a decision from Anthony Van Stron. Elandt was the aggressor most of the time and had little trouble gaining the edge.

The final fight of the evening, between Elmer Vanden Boogard of Kimberly and Willie Wiseman, was won by Kimberly and left the final score 7-4. Vanden Boogard's left hand landed effectively several times and provided the margin.

Kenyon of Clintonville refereed the matches. A. M. Scheller and Carl Swiston, Manawa coach, were judges.

team is not as strong as it was last season.

Four games have been carded for Friday night with all Twin City teams showing in addition to the Holy Name of Kimberly team. The Kimberly team, co-champions of the Catholic Boy conference, winners of the meet title in 1932, and winners of 28 games against four opponents will play the St. Peter's of Stevens Point team at 6:30 Friday night.

At 7:30 the St. John's of Menasha team, Winnebago grade school champions, will play St. Boniface of Manitowoc in a game that should be a thriller. The Manitowoc team has won 11 and lost three this year. Last year the team won the third place trophy at the tourney.

The Shamrocks of St. Patrick's parish, co-champions of the Catholic Boy conference, will face a game at 8:10 in the St. Peter's of Oshkosh team. The Oshkosh entry has won eight games and lost two and won the Oshkosh grade school minor league title. The Shamrocks won the tourney title in 1933.

The final game of Friday night will pit St. Mary's of Menasha against Holy Innocents of Manitowoc. The young Zephyrs won the league title in 1933 and 1934. They have a strong team again this year.

2nd Round Sunday
The second round of games will be played Sunday afternoon and evening. The semifinals games will be played on Monday afternoon with the championship and third place games scheduled for Monday night. Tourney officials will be W. W. Unser, F. J. Meyers and Marvin Miller.

First, second and third place winners will receive trophies as will the team receiving the sportsmanship award. An award will be given to the outstanding player while five players named to the all-tourney team also will receive medals.

An innovation this year will be a number of novelty awards the last night of the tournament such as prizes to the player with the most freckles or the reddest hair. Funds raised from the tournament will be used to pay for the new score board which has been installed for the meet.

Bobby Jones Still Attracts Galleries and the Pros Moan

BY GAYLE TALBOT
UGUSTA, Ga. — (AP) — It would be worth $100,000 each year in cash prizes to the professional golfers, or maybe even twice that amount, if Bobby Jones would turn professional and participate in the annual winter tour, estimates Freddie Corcoran, tournament manager for the Professional Golfers' association.

Freddie made his estimate, which he said was conservative, while casting a rander at the gallery following Jones as he tuned up half-heartedly for the 72-hole Augusta national "masters" tournament starting today, the only event of which Bobby comes out of hibernation.

The cream of the world's golfers were practicing all over the place, yet the only crowd of any size was following the Jones foursome.

Rowdy Pocan Gets Rough at Menasha Mat Show and Hager Gives Him Lesson, Trimming

BY RANDY HAASE
MENASHA — Scotty Williams of Louisville and Gentleman Torchy Smith of Honolulu engaged in a bit of an alley fight at the wrestling show at S. A. Cook armory Wednesday night with a 30 minute bout ending as a draw. Before the time limit expired the two grapplers had dug out all of the old tricks and added a few novelties of their own.

Torchy wore a lei around his neck to prove that he came from Honolulu. His wrestling consisted of tumbling under the blows of opened the show with Tarzan taking on every occasion, particularly when Williams plucked handful of hair from his back. Somewhere enroute from Honolulu Torchy must have picked up a few cannibal tendencies for he bit Williams on the fingers, ear, leg and toe. Williams retaliated in kind and the antics of the two kept a slim crowd laughing.

Tex Hager, the cowboy from Oregon, took two straight falls from Rowdy Pocan of Kimberly in the windup bout. Pocan substituted for Stan Pesek who was unable to appear because of an ear infection. Rowdy started the rough stuff and from that point the crowd was down on him.

Too much is too much, even in professional wrestling and Hager got tough himself. Pocan survived a series of flying dropkicks only to get caught in a reverse double grapevine that forced him to give up the first fall after 18 minutes.

Rowdy apparently didn't learn his lesson from the first fall and started to get rough again. Hager's temper was ruffled already so another series of a half-dozen flying dropkicks followed and Pocan was tumbled to the mat to fall victim of a body press in 4 minutes.

Tarzan Kraus and Milt Olsen Williams and moaning to the referee two straight falls and the match.

The two put on a clean bout that left the crowd cold but the spectators had their opportunity to exercise the lungs in the last two bouts. Kraus took the first fall in 19 minutes with his own version of the back breaker followed by a body press. The Milwaukee man apparently was in difficulty in the second fall but reversed a Boston crab to pin Olsen in 6 minutes.

A field of about 100 representing the Big Ten conference and other universities, will compete in the intercollegiate division.

There doesn't seem to be much hope that Jones, who is 37, will figure prominently in the present masters' or in any to come. Nowadays he is the perfect host first and the golfer only at odd moments. Those who followed him closest at the height of his unparalleled career admit, sadly, that he has lost something from his famous swing. Bobby, himself, treats the whole thing lightly.

"I'm hitting the ball all right," he said, "but I can't seem to get a putt down from inside four feet any more. Maybe they'll start dropping again one of these days. I can't concentrate like I used to."

Those who make books on the tournament were offering 40-to-1 against Bobby's chance as a competitor to 8-to-1 offered jointly against the favorites, Sam Snead, Ralph Guldahl and Henry Picard.

Arnold Driscoll, Port guard, showed little offensive power but defensively was one of the best. His fine work stopped opponents' scoring acts with a minimum of points.

Doc Prothro Must Yank Phils From National League Cellar

New Braunfels, Tex. — (AP) — Rotund Dr. Thompson Prothro, the dentist from Memphis, is poised for about the most painful extraction of his career.

His task is to yank the imbedded Philadelphia Phillies out of one of the deepest cellars in baseball—the one they dug for themselves in the National league last season.

The doctor is doing his first turn in the majors after many years with Memphis and Little Rock of the Southern Association. Optimist that he is, he is starting the hard way—yanking a Philly team that finished a slight 24 games back of the seventh place club last year.

"Why," he puffed, "fine men could stumble into more than 43 games. I'm not saying what we're going to do, understand, but you can bet we'll win more than 43 games."

"The thing we need most around this place is a distinct change in attitude. We'll never move if this last place complex isn't discarded. I called the boys together yesterday for my one and only talk and stressed this attitude business. Its just got to change—and I think it will if we get off to a nice start."

NITINGALE Ballroom cagers of Appleton trounced Algoma Eagles, 46 to 11, and Van Thull Bakers of Kimberly downed a strong Oshkosh team, 33 to 26, in first round games of the Green Bay Y. M. C. A. tournament at Green Bay last night. The Nitingale quint will meet Two Rivers at 7 o'clock tonight while the Kimberly squad meets the powerful Nicolet Tavern team of DePere at 7 o'clock Friday evening.

Nitingales had little trouble with the Algoma team as they took a 5 to 0 edge at the end of the first quarter, boosted it to 17 to 2 at the halfway mark and showed a 29 to 6 advantage at the end of the third frame.

The Kimberly squad, composed mostly of A. A. players, looked good as it took a 4 to 0 lead at the end of the first quarter and showed a 16 to 7 advantage at halftime. Oshkosh high scorer, Shad, made a battle of it during the second half and came within five points of Kimberly on several occasions. Lillie, former Appleton High school star, plunked eight points for the winners and Bowman counted seven. Art James sparked the losers with 13 points.

The Little Chute A. A. team will clash with Sturgeon Bay at 9 o'clock this evening.

The Dutchmen's squad will show a new lineup which includes Ernie "Mike" Hammen, St. John High star, who made the all-tournament team at the St. Norbert meet this season and Duane Weyenberg, second all-tournament center.

With Beany Bongers at center, Joey Versteegen and Donny Peeters at forward, and Weyenberg and Hammen at guard, a young team will take the floor. Three veterans, Ernie Versteegen, Moose Van Dyke and Lefty Willenberg will be ready to give the rookies a rest. Ory Bongers will manage the squad.

Ripper Collins Is Sold to Los Angeles

By Chicago Bruins

Los Angeles — (AP) — Life began anew today on the 34th birthday of James Anthony (Ripper) Collins. Collins, one-time member of the rip-roaring Gas House Gang of the St. Louis Cardinals, was abruptly sold down the river to the Los Angeles club of the Pacific coast league of the Chicago Cubs.

Today he was to talk salary with President David P. Fleming of the Angels and it was a different, disheartened Ripper that awaited the conference.

The deal, announced last night, was as much a shock to Collins as it was a delight and a surprise to Los Angeles, badly in need of a first baseman.

Doc Prothro Must Yank Phils From National League Cellar

New Braunfels, Tex. — (AP) — Rotund Dr. Thompson Prothro, the dentist from Memphis, is poised for about the most painful extraction of his career.

His task is to yank the imbedded Philadelphia Phillies out of one of the deepest cellars in baseball—the one they dug for themselves in the National league last season.

The doctor is doing his first turn in the majors after many years with Memphis and Little Rock of the Southern Association. Optimist that he is, he is starting the hard way—yanking a Philly team that finished a slight 24 games back of the seventh place club last year.

"Why," he puffed, "fine men could stumble into more than 43 games. I'm not saying what we're going to do, understand, but you can bet we'll win more than 43 games."

Beaumont, Former Badger, Was Pirate Star in the Olden Days

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series about former major league players from Wisconsin)

BY GEORGE ZIELKE
MILWAUKEE — (AP) — A fleet young rookie from Wisconsin, playing his first season in the National league, amazed the baseball world by beating out six infield hits, scoring after each at, in a game July 22, 1899.

His name was Clarence Howeth Beaumont, but the late Barney Dreyfuss president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, dubbed him "Ginger" because of his aggressive play, and the nickname stuck, even to this day.

Ginger played first base for the Pirates in 1899, but moved to the outfield the next year and was the center fielder for the Pittsburgh champions of 1901, 1902 and 1903, who boasted such other famous hitters as Hans Wagner and Fred Clarke.

Recently when Wagner was asked to pick an "all-time team," he named Beaumont as one of the outfielders.

Hit .357 in 1902
Ginger, a left-handed hitter, won the league batting title in 1902 with a .357 average, beating Wagner by five points. The Wisconsin slugger led the league in hits that year with 194. The next year he topped the circuit in scoring runs with 137, and also rapped out the most hits, 209, while compiling a .341 average. He also notched the most hits in 1907, playing for the Boston Braves with 167.

He was the first player to bat in a modern world series as lefthanded man for the Pirates Oct. 1, 1903 against the Red Sox. (He went hitless that day).
Ginger was fast on the bases and stole 25 or more bases in a season five times. Baseball history lists no other man who ever had six safe infield hits in a big league game.

Beaumont was born at Rochester, Wis., July 23, 1876. He played the old Fox River Valley league for a couple of years before the Milwaukee club, then in the Western league, obtained him late in 1898. The day he reported to the Brewers, he broke up the game with a homerun, and hit for the circuit three times in his first week. He batted .350 in the remaining month of the season.

With Cubs in 1910
He played with Pittsburgh from 1899 to 1906, moving to Boston in 1907 and winding up his major league career as utility outfielder for the Chicago Cub champions in 1910.

Ginger's lifetime batting average for 12 seasons in the big time was a healthy .318.
In 1911 he played at St. Paul, but didn't care much about minor league ball and retired to Honey Creek, down in Walworth county, where he now has a farm. He swung a bat for the Honey Creek team for a few years—and pitchers still had a hard time getting him out.

His major league batting and base-stealing records:

Sugar Beets

Nature gave people of southern lands far better sugarmaking plants than those of the north. Sugar cane grows where the climate is warm and where plenty of rain falls. Sugar cane grows in Mexico and in some southern parts of the United States (especially Louisiana) but not in most regions of the north temperate zone. Until modern times, there was only one good sugar-making plant which grew well north of Louisiana. That was the sugar maple, of which we have spoken. It makes good sugar, but not enough to take care of many millions of people.

Part of "the works" in sugar beet factory. Not quite 200 years ago, a German scientist set to work trying to get sugar from a white beet which grew in his country. He met with success, but did not obtain enough sugar to make the process pay. The beets with which he worked might be called "great-grandparents" of the modern sugar beet. They contained only about four per cent of sugar, but care was taken to plant new beets from the seed of those with the most sugar in them. In this way, through the years better sugar-making beets were obtained.

In the time of Napoleon Bonaparte, sugar beets were good enough to make it pay to raise them on a large scale. At least it paid the French, who were having trouble getting cane sugar because of Napoleon's wars. Today, the white sugar beet has from three to five times as much sugar in it as the white beet of two centuries ago. The sugar in modern beets is sometimes more than 20 per cent, but the average is about 15 per cent.

Millions of tons of sugar beets are hauled to mills. In the mills, they are washed and sliced into small "chips." Later the chips are washed in hot water, and the juice is pressed from them.

Sugar beet juice is handled in almost the same manner as cane juice. It is filtered, treated with chemicals, and heated. It turns into molasses, and at last is dried in a way which gives us sugar.

The pulp of the sugar beet does not go to waste after the juice is pressed out. In the form of pulp cakes, either wet or dry, it can be used as food for cattle. It also is employed to enrich the soil on farms.

Russia now leads the world in the amount of the beet sugar it turns out. In a recent year, the Russian output was 2,800,000 tons. Germany ranks second. Among the other beet sugar leaders are the United States, Poland, Great Britain, Italy and Sweden.

President Gives Approval of New Park Allocation

Additional Outlay of $54,000 Will Permit Completion of Project

New London — President Roosevelt has signed his approval for the completion of New London's W.P.A. Hatten park project, amounting to a total additional outlay of $54,000, according to a wire received by Park Superintendent F. A. Jennings from Senator Alexander Wiley yesterday afternoon. Application for the aid was made by the city a month ago. The money will provide for the completion of the shelter house, part of which has already been erected, completion of boulevards and other roads, boundary fences, excavation of lagoons, and general landscaping. Orders on the project are expected to come through the Stevens Point district office in about another month when 40 more men, who were discharged when the funds ran out, will be put back to work on the project. About 30 men are still employed, most of them on the stadium and new athletic field.

Assault and Battery Charge Is Dismissed: Complainant Assessed

New London — The case of Mrs. Conrad Heimbruch, who was charged with assault and battery on complaint of W. E. Frank, was dismissed by Justice Fred J. Rogers in police court last night and Frank charged with the costs of the action when he failed to produce convincing testimony. Mrs. Heimbruch was represented by Attorney Walter Melchior of Appleton while Frank was without legal representation.

The charge grew out of an affair at the Nu-Way lunch stand Saturday and Mrs. Heimbruch pleaded not guilty when arraigned in court Monday.

Clintonville — Two days, May 6 and May 13, will be devoted to the annual district music festival which will be held this year in Clintonville. The solo and ensemble numbers will be presented on Saturday, May 6; while the following Saturday will be devoted to the larger groups such as the glee clubs, mixed choruses, orchestras and bands. About twenty-five schools will participate in the various events and several thousand

Miss Edith Gray, director of vocal music in the Clintonville public schools, and eight members of the high school ice club are spending Thursday in Green Bay, where rehearsals are being held in preparation for a mass chorus which will sing Friday at the convention of the Northeastern Teachers' association. The chorus of about sixty voices, selected from eight schools in this district, is directed by Max Krone, vocal instructor at Northern Illinois university. Those who are taking part in the chorus work are: Betty Spiegel and Dorothy Fumelle, soprano; Elizabeth Stubenvoll and Betty Brohm, alto; Ronald Fillow and Harold Mitchell, tenor.

Myers' Funeral Rites Will be Held Friday

Weyauwega—Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Keeney Myers, who was found dead at her home at 7:30 Tuesday morning, will be conducted at the local Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon by the Rev. Russell Peterson. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery. The cause of the death of Mrs. Myers was given as apoplexy.

The WORLD OF STAMPS

Vatican City postal officials were faced with a novel situation upon the death of Pope Pius XI on February 10. That was the first time since the Vatican was declared an independent state in 1929 that it had been without a pope.

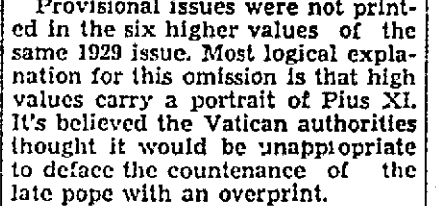

Pacelli was elected Pope, this stamp in seven denominations—was in circulation.

throughed the city's post office to buy the stamp after it appeared. When Italy became a nation back in the 1860's, the pope, shorn of all temporal powers, was a virtual "prisoner" at the Vatican. He was subject to Italian laws and the Vatican was a part of Rome. Naturally this was distasteful to the papacy.

Provisional issues were not printed in the six higher values of the same 1929 issue. Most logical explanation for this omission is that high values carry a portrait of Pius XI. It's believed the Vatican authorities thought it would be inappropriate to deface the countenance of the late pope with an overprint.

To a Woman, Every Day is "EXPOSITION" Day

Coffee is vulnerable to every taste Food that is just ordinary in quality generally escapes criticism. But ordinary coffee is not so fortunate. For coffee has become the "Exposition" of the meal. If it is off in flavor, it is the target of both mild and sharp comments. Is it any wonder that good housekeepers put their faith in Hills Bros. Coffee? Every steaming cup invites this praise—"Now that's what I call good coffee." For 61 years millions have drunk Hills Bros. Coffee with pleasure and served it with pride.

Pupils of Seventh and Eighth Grades Organizing 'Village'; Election Date Set at April 11

Kimberly — Pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the Kimberly public school have developed a project in citizenship under the direction of Miss Janet Wells.

P. A. Locks, village clerk, was called upon to outline to the student body the functions of the officials of the village of Kimberly. The pupils decided to incorporate their class room as a separate government.

The necessary legal documents were drawn up, such as a petition to the circuit court to incorporate the class room to be known as the Seventh and Eighth Grade School Council. Billy Lang and Robert Kumbier acting as the class room surveyor, presented a survey and map showing the territory to be incorporated which was attached to the petition. The pupils posted the various notices around the grade school corridors.

All steps were taken in legal form and J. R. Gerrits, principal of the high school, was asked to act as judge of the Kimberly grade school court and in due time the petition to incorporate the class room under the name of the Seventh and Eighth Grade Council was granted.

Three inspectors were named by the court to conduct the first election: Lillemoe, Fird, Billy Lang and John Clark. Mr. Locks, village clerk, prepared nomination papers which were placed in circulation. John Clark was made a notary public and all nomination papers were filed in legal style.

Because the school will have its Easter vacation on the regular spring election day, April 4, the seventh and eighth grade election day was placed one week later, April 11, upon petition to the judge.

Many candidates are out for the various offices. The student body will be governed by a president, six council members, three to be elected for two years from the sixth grade and three to be elected for a one year term from the seventh grade. As in a municipality, they will also have a clerk, treasurer, assessor, supervisor, chairman of the class room, reporter and peace-maker. Notices have been posted that the polls will be open from 8:30 in the morning until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Following are the candidates for the various offices: President, Eugene Breuer, Deloris Fjellerod, Bobby Kumbier and Harry Parent; councilmen, one year term: Albert Adams, Jack Mills, Emily Vanden Hoogen, Catherine Van Toll and Louis Wynyard; councilmen, two years: Mamie Brum, Carl Bunnaw, Luella Fulcer, Gladys Muehler, Robert Olive, Betty Lou Patch and Virginia Van Himbergen. Clerk: Marie Johnson, Donald Paulus, Peter Van Sanbeck and Virginia Zillger; treasurer, Charlotte Brum, Adelle Johnson, Cletia Olive, and Elaine Wynyard; assessor: Jack Courchane, Carol Tiedeman and Harlan Verhagen.

Supervisor: Eugene Breuer, Deloris Fjellerod, Bobby Kumbier and Harry Parent; captain of class room reporters: Mary Coates, John Girard, Delores Patch, Marian Peterson, Carol Trichel and Louella Thein.

Peace makers: Eugene Frier, Walter Jansen, Martin Van Beek.

Miller Is Elected Golf Club Director

Clintonville Organization Has Its Ninth Annual Meeting

Clintonville — B. E. Miller was elected a director for three years of Riverside Golf club at its ninth annual meeting held Tuesday evening at Hotel Marston. He succeeds Leonard A. Heuer, who declined reelection after having served as an officer of the Riverside club since it was organized.

At the directors' meeting, which was also held Tuesday evening, B. E. Miller was elected president of the club with Herbert Bovee as vice president. D. J. Rohrer was reelected to the office of secretary-treasurer. The retiring officers are the Rev. E. C. Stubenvoll, president, and S. H. Sanford, vice president.

According to reports, Riverside golf course has come through the winter in fine condition and play will be started as soon as weather conditions will permit.

Roy Eberhardt, George Seidel, Harold Griswold, Harold Palmer, Keith Ramsdell and Miss Virginia Meggers returned Tuesday to Ripon college to resume their studies following their spring recess.

Roy Barker spent Tuesday in Madison where he attended a meeting at Hotel Lorraine.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Milbauer were in Milwaukee from Sunday to Wednesday, where the former attended a druggists' convention. They also visited their daughter, Mrs. Paul J. Singer, the former Miss Ruth Milbauer of this city. Returning home with them were their daughters, the Misses Inez and RoJene Milbauer, students at Downer college, who will spend their Easter vacation here.

The Leisure Hour club was entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Joseph Zehren at her home on Eighteenth street. Three tables of bridge were followed by a luncheon. Those who received prizes were Mrs. Arthur Schelwe, Mrs. Edwin Hangartner, Mrs. Charles Wendler and Mrs. Frank McIntyre.

Mrs. Ella Genskow was hostess to her club Wednesday afternoon at her home on Franklin street. Two tables of bridge were followed by a luncheon. Prizes went to Mrs. Joseph Leyrer, Mrs. Henry Korb, Mrs. John Ewer and Mrs. Rudolph Rulach.

Mrs. Donald Russell entertained two tables of contract bridge Wednesday afternoon at her home on S. Main street. High honors were won by Mrs. A. C. Haase and Mrs. Edward J. Meyer.

Eugene Thies visited Wednesday and Thursday at Madison with Robert Leyrer of this city, a student at Wisconsin university. The former is here on a week's vacation from his studies at the University of Minnesota.

They Ought to be Sober When They Talk of Foreign Affairs

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington—So much depends on the public remarks of men in this government, particularly as to foreign affairs, that there should be an honor committee among them to hold them to sobriety during business hours and at moments when they are sounding off on the radio or for the press after school. If a man speaks in a reckless or irrational and provocative manner when he is cold sober the people who elected him are stuck with him and his remarks and have no remedy but to lick him at the polls next time around.

Pegler

But whether he is elected or hired, which is to say appointed, there is an assumption that even if he is not a teetotaler, he will handle his liquor capably. The country should not have to risk the consequences of remarks tossed off, perhaps into the teeth of some paranoiac European marauder, by a government agent who is either drunk at the time or mentally impaired by that lingering pickledness which in some hard drinkers, persists for from 24 to 48 hours after a binge. There is no such escape in the law, however, and there are no regulations, so he devolves upon the men, themselves, who make up the government, including the houses of congress, to impose a rule of conduct that is expected to be observed by every person who drives an automobile.

The history of governmental Washington is rich in amusing stories of picturesque old toss-pots and nocturnal door-kickers, now preserved in marble or bronze in stately hall, who delivered deathless orations when they were barely able to stand and couldn't see at all. But the memoirs of the army also abound in tales of horseback generals who drank straight from the jug, and a drunkard could not get a command today.

A lifelong teetotaler would not be a competent witness, but any man or woman who has had experience in liquor is eligible to testify that alcohol tends to stifle discretion and blur judgment. But businessmen trust themselves to read and sign important documents when they are feeling gigantic, and men in the government should admit and act upon the fact that a colleague who is known to get blind drunk and again may deserve public exposure so that intemperate remarks may be discounted both at home and abroad.

It is a strange fact that the civil branch of government in the elective and higher appointive levels is the only zone of activity in this country in which a man may get drunk, stay drunk for days or keep himself in a mildly stewed condition for years without loss of privilege or standing. A clerk may be fired but a statesman may not be even rebuked. And a lawmaker, for example, going before his people asking re-election may not even be accused of inebriety, except in whispers which defeat themselves, if he can manage to stay sober in public during his campaign.

If a newspaper reporter in the capital were to say, with absolute truth, that a statesman was grogged up when he delivered a dangerous declaration his paper could be sued and mulcted, hands down, because even in traffic cases the humblest defendant may beat a similar charge if he knows his rights, unless tests have been made at the time. The charge is a matter of opinion and, if it is made some time after the incident and is heard a considerable time after that, proof is almost impossible.

Irresponsible Remarks May be Very Dangerous

It is in the field of foreign relations that irresponsible remarks may be particularly dangerous and deserve the least protection from the tolerance and etiquette of the

Wisconsin's Health

BY DR. C. A. HARPER, State Health Officer

Not to rush the reason, but do you realize that Wisconsin has upward of 650 swimming pools and bathing beaches that are more or less under supervision?

The great strides that have been made during the past few years toward proper treatment of municipal sewage have been a boon to aquatic sport, and the state's reputation as a summer playground is going to profit directly from these sanitary projects.

A recent survey made by the state board of health listed 51 municipally operated artificial swimming pools open to the general public, 40 indoor pools operated by colleges and schools, 14 operated by the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A., 12 operated by other institutions and three by industries in Wisconsin.

These artificial pools are great things. Every year they turn out thousands of new swimmers, and to know how to swim proves vitally important once or twice in a lifetime.

The state offers advisory service to operators of pools and beaches through the board of health, which administers a sanitation code on the subject. One of the five typhoid fever deaths that occurred in Wisconsin last year was the result of swimming in grossly polluted water, which naturally was not a designated bathing place. When the water in or near a supervised bathing place shows dangerous pollution, health officials have the power to close the beach until the pollution is abated.

Surprise Party Given At Bear Creek Home

Bear Creek—A surprise party in honor of Clifford, Edward and Jerry Flanagan was held at the James Flanagan home Sunday evening. Cards and other games were played and lunch was served. Those in attendance were: Jean, Pat and Norbert Rohan, Elaine, Alice and Jack Sullivan, Lucille, Helen and Ray McGinty, Sally Hurley, Helen Glenn, and Kenneth Tyrrell, Leon Zilske, Edward Brauer, Russell Dietz, Margaret, Marian and David Flanagan.

Edwin Wagner of Milwaukee was a weekend guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McGinty.

Due to a misunderstanding, it was announced last week that the C. Y. C. was to put on a play April 12 at the high school gymnasium. The announcement should have read that a public dance party will be sponsored by the C. Y. C. on April 12. Frank Prunty, Sr., Edward Prunty and sons, Daniel and Sylvester left Thursday for Chicago where they will spend several days.

An electronic microscope has been invented which, without lens, magnifies up to 20,400 times, and gives 25 times the resolving power of the best conventional lens-type microscope.

School Boards Will Set Easter Recesses

Easter vacation will be held in some of the Outagamie county rural and state graded schools from April 7 through April 10, according to Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent of schools. Other schools will have shorter vacations because of lost time earlier in the school term, he explained. The length of the vacation is determined by the district school boards.
